Even The Mayor Works By Lamplight

The fact that Hiram McCallum is mayor of Toronto has not given him special privileges as far as extra hydro power is concerned. Along with thousands of office workers throughout Ontario, affected by the hour periods of power cut-offs, he is shown working by lamplight through one of the one-hour spells. Gasoline and oil lamps of all kinds, battery-operated fluorescent tubes, gas jets and candles were pressed into service to keep the wheels of business operating. (S.N.S. Service.)

Another Major Battle Shaping Up For Suchow

NANKING (AP)—Communist forces shifted a step closer to the Yangtze River today in the fighting around Suchow and Lingpi. Reds deployed on the eastern flank of Suchow, 180 miles northwest of Nanking, suddenly pulled southward. They regrouped east of the Pukow-Tientsin railroad 40 miles north of Pengpu. Major fighting was expected along the Suchow-Lingpi highway.

FIGHT FOR GATEWAY

The new development in the battle for Suchow, gateway to the capital, came as National forces in the Peiping-Tientsin area got ready for a major battle for that area of North China.

The Central News Agency, quoting a headquarters spokesman, said government forces had not recaptured Suchow, which almost hourly in the last four days has been described by various sources as in the hands of one or the other warring factions.

U.S. Opposes British Plan To Take Negev From Israel

PARIS (AP)—The United States opposes a British proposal that might take southern Palestine's Negev Desert from Israel. American delegate Philip C. Jessup submitted to the political committee of the United Nations a number of amendments to Britain's latest proposal for the solution of the Arab-Jewish Palestine dispute.

The amendments would soften Britain's reference to the report of the late Count Folke Bernadotte as a basis for a Palestine settlement and give more weight to the U.N. partition plan of Nov. 29, 1947. Jessup said the British proposal, "without our amendments, is more restrictive than necessary."

Under the Bernadotte plan, Negev would have been taken from the Jews and they would receive western Galilee in its stead. The original U.N. partition plan gives Negev to the Jews and western Galilee to the Arabs.

Faris el Khouri of Syria offered a draft resolution calling for establishment of a commission composed of five member powers.

The commission would be empowered to study the Palestine situation on the spot and prepare for setting up a single state (with an Arab majority) in Palestine on a cantonization or federalized basis.

New Facts On Nazi-Red Deal With Spain To Be Revealed

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States, Britain and France are planning to publish new facts about Spain and Russia's secret negotiations with Nazi Germany, it was disclosed today.

Details of the pre-war Hitler-Stalin deal to divide Poland will be bare for the first time in two separate 1,000-page volumes now under preparation.

Evidence of German, Italian and Russian intervention in the Spanish civil war will feature a third volume dealing with Franco's relations with Hitler from 1936 to 1939.

Diplomatic officials said the U.S. State Department, in cooperation with the British and French foreign offices, plans to start publishing these three documents early next year. They will be printed in English, French and German.

They will be but three of the 25 volumes now being prepared by historians of the three countries from German records captured by the United States army in the closing days of the war.

Moscow bitterly denounced the State Department early this year after it had published part of the record of Soviet-German negotiations as revealed in the Nazi documents.

Substitute For Taft-Hartley Act Being Prepared

WASHINGTON (AP)—The administration is preparing a substitute for the Taft-Hartley labor law with built-in compromises to meet possible objection from Congress, industry and labor.

This, it was learned today, is the plan being followed by a five-man lawyer team assigned to draft the new law.

B.C. Indians Meet; Protest Sales Tax Without Benefits

VANCOUVER (CP)—British Columbia Indians are stirring their war-paint and sharpening tomahawks for an attack on the provincial and federal governments.

Here for a three-day pow-wow, chiefs and delegates from interior and coastal areas term the provincial 3 per cent sales tax "obnoxious" because "Indians must pay it, but don't receive any benefits from it."

They also said the Dominion government has garnished some Indians' money for income tax, and threatened others "with forcible collection of moneys they are alleged to have owed for several years."

Delegates unanimously oppose the levy and propose to challenge it in the courts.

Representatives will protest the sales tax to the provincial government, and will seek an interview with Attorney-General Gordon Wismer on administration of justice to Indians in the lower courts.

They will protest alienation of hereditary hunting and trapping rights. Delegates said many Indians are denied game guide licenses, and others are without trappings.

The new Premier's political powers largely were inherited from his late father, Dr. Sun Yat-sen. He is a bitter enemy of Russia and has the close support of Rightist members of the Yuan and such Kuomintang leaders as Secretary-General Wu Te-chen and Chen Li-fu.

Government dispatches from Suchow said a decisive battle was expected shortly.

Red units east of Suchow covering the Communist southward movements were said to be taking a beating at the hands of government ground and air forces.

On the political front, retuned Dr. Sun Fo, Legislative Yuan President since 1932 and son of the founder of the Chinese Republic, was approved as Premier today by the law-making body.

President Chiang Kai-shek had nominated Sun to replace Wong Wen-hao, who resigned.

The team is expected to:

1. Write labor legislation which can be sent to Congress with Mr. Truman's blessing, and
2. Write alternatives for several sections of their draft, as possible substitutes along what may be a bumpy legislative route.

They plan to file the gist of the suggested new law with President Truman's aides by Monday.

Secrets well kept

Exactly what it will contain is a carefully guarded secret, but it was reported to call for reinforcement of most of the old Wagner Labor Act, plus some modified Taft-Hartley provisions.

Secretary of Labor Tobin—in charge of backing up Mr. Truman's pledge to replace the Taft-Hartley Act with a "fair" labor law—has said he expects to seek advice from industry and labor.

The drafters' work probably will be changed, in some respects at least, on the basis of these talks, with further changes likely in Congress.

Liner Elizabeth Ready For 'Austerity' Voyage

SOUTHAMPTON, Eng. (AP)—By the Queen Elizabeth's usual standards it will be an austere voyage when the world's largest ocean liner sails for New York next Sunday—11 days behind schedule.

About 1,500 passengers have been stranded aboard the Elizabeth here since last Friday, awaiting outcome of the U.S. east coast dock workers' strike.

When it was announced Thursday in New York that the strike had been settled, subject to a vote by the dock workers, the Cunard-White Star Line announced the Elizabeth would sail Sunday.

News of the sailing touched off mass rejoicing aboard the ship.

But high spending characteristic of the Queen's routine crossings will be out for most passengers, many of whom have gone broke during their unexpected lay-over in Southampton.

The bulk of the 1,500 passengers now aboard now cannot afford the more expensive shipboard pastimes.

Even tipping will be a problem. Hard-up travelers say they simply have not got the cash and several already have paid tips by cheque.

Britain, the United States, France and the Netherlands all have vital strategic or colonial interests in that area.

The informants said it is unlikely any publicly announced conference will be held between the United States and European countries for the purpose of coordinating policies and mapping anti-Communist strategy. However, these sources declared, the policy-makers of all concerned realize that unless they act together a major crisis may develop throughout Asia.

A U.S. diplomat cited insurrections in Burma, Malaya and Indonesia as evidence of a Communist "renaissance."

Industrial plants are operating today, though, after closing down Thursday.

"If we can get over the peak consumption period today—which is late in the afternoon—we will have the flume fixed before another peak period comes along," the spokesman said.

Workers were on the job of repairing the flume throughout the night, and fresh trouble-shooters are working under great pressure today.

The accident occurred Wednesday northeast of here when Du-chak mistook a pack of dynamite for a deer.

On a difficult stretcher trip over rugged terrain the unconscious man, his windpipe almost completely severed, was breathing through the wound in his neck.

Holiday Saves Lives

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Members of the Leon Isaacs family owe their lives to a holiday invitation. They were found unconscious in a gas-filled house Thursday night when their hosts came to see why they had not shown up for Thanksgiving dinner.

It is the turn of the pupils of the Victoria High School this week to tell what they want to be when they grow up, thus carrying on the Magazine's highly popular schools feature.

Another Magazine innovation tomorrow is a Stamp Collector's corner, which is to be conducted by R. Nairne, the well-known Victoria philatelist.

Legislators Soon To Hear Demand Limits Be Fixed

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senator Tydings (Dem.-Md.) served notice on the United States armed forces today that the new Congress will aim at a $15,000,000,000 ceiling on defence costs this year.

"We must keep America strong and the world at peace," he said, "but do that with the idea that the taxpayer also must survive."

"We will cut out every bit of military expense that is not fully justified," he told a reporter.

Tydings is due to become chairman of the Senate armed services committee when the Democrats take over Congress Jan. 3. He also will be a ranking member of the appropriations committee, which has a hold on government purse strings.

AT HOME AND ABROAD

"It is my hope," he said, "that for purely armed services at home and abroad we will make expenditures less and certainly no greater than the present year."

The current defence budget ranges around $15,000,000,000. But next year, Tydings said, "we may be able to cut it to 14½, 14 or 12. We'll have to be a little tough and make them prove their cases."

Inactive Life May Be Forced On Ailing King

LONDON (CP)—The King may have to lead a quiet life for the rest of his days, the British medical publication, Lancet, says today.

Commenting on the disclosure that the King is suffering from an obstruction of the arterial circulation in the legs and that the defective blood supply to the right foot causes anxiety, the Lancet says:

"Its seriousness is all too evident, and is the more impressive because, in a life of service, the King has so seldom allowed himself to be deflected from any public task whether great or small."

"Yet there is good hope that, provided the acute phase yields to rest and treatment, it will be followed by a return of health and strength: though possibly, like so many of his subjects at the same age (52), the King will have to purchase continuing health at the cost of some of his more strenuous activities."

Comfortable Night For Greek Premier

ATHENS (AP)—Premier Themistokles Sophoulis, stricken with two heart attacks in two days, passed a comfortable night, but his doctors said today it would take 36 hours before it could be determined whether he will recover.

Sophoulis suffered his first attack Wednesday, on his birthday. He now is 58 years old. The second attack came Thursday. Doctors said if he does not have another attack within 36 hours he will have a good chance for recovery.

Sophoulis suffered his

Israel To Request Entry Into U.N. In Week Or Two

PARIS (CP)—Israel will apply for membership in the United Nations within the next week or two, an authoritative source said here.

This move by the new Jewish state will pose the question of whether a country with disputed frontiers can be recognized by the United Nations.

In the political committee Thursday, Dr. Ralph Bunche, United Nations Palestine mediator, said the U.N. should admit Israel to membership. This, he said, was one of the means of bringing about a settlement of the Arab-Jewish Palestine problem.

Opposition to recognition of Israel will probably come from Britain, which maintains she will not recognize the new state until its boundaries are set. And there is virtually no possibility that Israel's boundaries will be fixed within the next two weeks.

Thunderbirds May Pass Up Grid Trip

VANCOUVER (CP)—University of British Columbia Thunderbirds may pass up their trip to California for an international football tournament, scheduled for next month.

Poor showing this year and Christmas exams are blamed for reluctance of most players to make the trip. A vote, however, will be taken to decide the issue.

If Thunderbirds should happen to make the trip, four members of the University of Manitoba Bisons have been named to bolster the team.

The four are Joe Chiswell, centre; Nestor Swystun, guard; Doug Whitlaw, end, and Johnny Carpenter, halfback.

Other teams represented in the tournament are University of Mexico, University of Hawaii and an all-star U.S. junior college club.

"If there is a next time you will get jail without option of a fine," Magistrate H. C. ## Committed For Trial

Mrs. Phyllis Margaret McMurray, 850 Yates Street, was today committed to the Assizes for trial on a manslaughter charge arising out of the death on Oct. 22 of Mrs. J. S. Fawcett, 69, of 895 Island Highway.

A. I. Thomas, J.P., who sat at the preliminary hearing Monday, handed down the decision.

Mrs. Fawcett died after being hit by a car driven by Mrs. McMurray on the Island Highway near Langford. A coroner's jury termed the death accidental on Oct. 28.

W. C. Mainwaring, vice-president and assistant to the president of the B.C.E.R., in a letter to Mayor Percy George Thursday, tendered his resignation as the city council's nominee on the Victoria Public Library Board, as he is now a resident of Vancouver. He paid tribute to the work rendered the city by the library.

B.C. Policeman To Receive D.F.C.

LAKE COWICHAN—Constable Stanley C. Hodges of the B.C. Provincial Police, stationed at Lake Cowichan, is among island veterans who will receive their D.F.C. at an investiture in Vancouver Saturday.

Hodges was a pilot officer during the war and served as a gunner on a Lancaster bomber. He has at least one enemy plane to his credit and he participated in 30 operational raids—11 on Berlin.

He was born at New Westminster and has been stationed at Lake Cowichan for the past year. His wife and young daughter will accompany him to the investiture.

James Ogg Duncan, 71, found drowned in King William Dock, Dundee, had in his lifetime rescued 15 persons from drowning.

Pre-Inaugural Flight For Bermuda Route

A group of 40 government officials, business leaders and press, radio and airline executives left Montreal and Toronto Thursday evening on a Trans-Canada Air Lines pre-inaugural flight to the Caribbean.

The six-day trip will be made by a North Star and will include stopovers at Nassau, Bahamas; Kingston and Montego Bay, Jamaica, and Port-of-Spain, Trinidad, where the party will be received officially.

Inauguration of the new T.C.A. services to the Bahamas and the West Indies Dec. 2 will forge another link in the trade routes between Canada and the Caribbean.

The 3,366-mile route will be flown in 14 hours 55 minutes.

Start Planned January On Island Pulp Mill

Construction of the $30,000,000 pulp mill at Duncan Bay, just north of Campbell River, will be undertaken soon by the Canadian Western Timber Co. Ltd., H. J. Mackin, president, reported in Vancouver Thursday.

Mr. Mackin said that the economic and engineering surveys for the huge project were almost completed now and construction may start in January.

The Duncan Bay project will provide Vancouver Island with its fourth pulp mill, the third to be constructed since the war. One pulp mill has been operating at Port Alice for years. The second went into production about a year ago at Port Alberni. It was built by Bloedel, Stewart & Welch Ltd. Work is proceeding on the construction of the third mill near Nanaimo. It is a MacMillan project.

The Duncan Bay pulp mill, like the Port Alberni and Nanaimo plants, will use power from the B.C. Power Commission's big John Hart Development at Campbell River.

The company has received approval in principle of a forest management license to provide raw material for the mill in the future. It is proposed that the mill will use waste material for operation at the start.

Construction of the mill will probably take several years.

Way Cleared For Shipping To Resume On Both Coasts

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Terms for settling waterfront strikes on the east and west coasts of the United States today cleared the decks for early resumption of normal American shipping.

Negotiators in the 86-day C.I.O. longshoremen's strike on the Pacific coast announced settlement terms Thursday night. Earlier in the day negotiators had agreed on peace in the 17-day strike of A.F.L. longshoremen on the Atlantic coast.

Both tentative agreements must be ratified by union memberships before some 515 strike-bound ships put to sea.

On the Pacific coast four other unions are involved in the strike, but the longshoremen's terms are considered the key to peace.

Final settlement would return 92,000 to maritime jobs and many thousands more to work in other industries halted or curtailed by the strike.

It would release some $30,000,000 of Marshall-Plan cargoes at eastern docks and restore business running into the millions of dollars.

The Pacific tie-up, second longest in history, has cost, by estimate of the Pacific U.S. shipowners, about $344,000,000 in trade at the rate of $4,000,000 a day.

The negotiators agreement boosts the western longshore basic wage by 15 cents to $1.82 an hour, which was the amount the union was asking when it struck Sept. 2.

The A.F.L. union officers tentatively agreed on a 13-cent raise retroactive to Aug. 21 to bring the eastern daytime base scale to $1.88 an hour.

The 65,000 A.F.L. union members will vote Saturday on the terms.

Naval Principals To Gather Nov. 30 In Annual Parley

OTTAWA (CP) — The navy's senior officers will meet here from Nov. 30 to Dec. 3, it was announced today, to round off a series of conferences the headquarters of all three services have had with their regional chiefs in the last few months.

In all cases the Defence Department depicted the meetings as annual conferences used to bring the commanding officers in various parts of the country entirely up to date and to keep headquarters posted on problems as they appear from the other angle.

Lt.-Gen. Charles Foulkes, Chief of the General Staff, conferred with the chiefs of the five army commands some weeks ago. Air Marshal W. A. Curtis, R.C.A.F. chief, has just completed similar talks.

Vice-Admiral H. T. W. Grant, naval chief, will preside over the navy conference, which will deal with "matters of broad policy" for the force.

Among ranking officers who will come to Ottawa for the conference are Rear-Admiral E. R. Mainguy, Flag Officer Atlantic Coast, and Rear-Admiral H. G. DeWolf, Flag Officer Pacific Coast.

Storm Warning

VANCOUVER (CP) — The following storm warning was issued here today by the Dominion public weather office:

Southeast gales 45 m.p.h., beginning in waters off Charlottes tonight and spreading to waters off northern Vancouver Island.

Saturday morning: Winds will shift to westerly 30 off Charlottes Saturday morning and off Vancouver Island Saturday afternoon.

Plotted Murder

CAIRO (Reuters) — Police Thursday arrested a young man alleged to have plotted the assassination of Prime Minister Nokrashy Pasha of Egypt. The arrest was made at the Saad Zaghlul Club, headquarters of the Premier's Saadist Party.

Canadian Army Tests Its Recoilless Weapons

In line with its policy of keeping up to date with new weapons, the Canadian army has been carrying out trials with the above type of recoilless gun. This small unorthodox weapon was developed by the U.S. army in order that the infantry would have a readily portable gun capable of engaging and defeating armored vehicles. Weighing 160 pounds, this rifle fires a shell capable of penetrating all but the most heavily armored tanks. — Canadian Army Photo.

Eisenhower Story Worthy Of Author, Says Lord Ismay

LONDON (AP) — Winston Churchill's No. 1 wartime military aide says the book "Crusade in Europe" is "worthy of its great author." Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower. (See the 20th installment of "Crusade in Europe" on page 15 of today's edition.)

In a review published today in the London Daily Telegraph, Gen. Lord Ismay says the book has a "particular lesson for us all at the present time since it shows how strong, proud and independent peoples can be harmoniously united in the fight for freedom with irresistible effect."

Lord Ismay was chief of staff to the Minister of Defence, a post which Churchill held as well as that of Prime Minister.

Previous reviews in some sections of the British press complained that Eisenhower's book was "a blow at British-American friendship and understanding." One such review said it accorded "chilly praise" to Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery, British army leader, in contrast to an "extravagance of bouquets" handed to some U.S. generals. Lord Ismay comments, however: "Americans often accuse us of understatement. 'Crusade in Europe' is almost British in this respect, and in the midst of the simple, straightforward narrative, the reader may well miss some of the drama."

There may be criticism, Lord Ismay writes, "that too much prominence is given to American forces and too little to the British."

"We must remember, however, that Eisenhower's story does not start in earnest until 1942, by which time we had already been fighting for over two years and were stretched to the limit in theatres of war which are outside the scope of his book."

Calgary Stampeder Football Fans Roar Into Staid Toronto

TORONTO (CP) — The football mad west thundered into Toronto's Union Station today. The clamor drowned out the trains. With a ki-yi-yipee, 200 fans who will egg on Calgary Stampeder in tomorrow's Dominion football final against Ottawa Rough Riders, piled off their 17-car special. At the drop of a 10-gallon hat, they pulled off a square dance in the station's cavernous rotunda.

Staid Toronto hadn't seen anything like it in years and there was more than one raised eyebrow among Homburg-wearing suburbanites on their way to downtown offices.

All the fans, who had come 2,000 miles just to see Stamps play, were dressed in full cowboy regalia, chaps, clanking spurs and all.

The cowgirls were partial to snow-white 10-gallon headpieces and red silk shirts. All the fans wore kerchiefs with "Stampeder" emblazoned on them and Calgary's red and white colors.

Ottawa Man Leads Council Of Churches

OTTAWA (CP) — Very Rev. John W. Woodside, D.D., former moderator of the United Church of Canada, tonight was elected President of the Canadian Council of Churches at the concluding session of the fifth annual meeting. Minister of Chalmers United Church in Ottawa, he succeeds Rev. George P. Gilmour, D.D., Chancellor of McMaster University, Hamilton, president of the council for the last two years. Vice-presidents chosen include Rt. Rev. W. F. Brafoot, Bishop of Edmonton.

Jailbreaker Slain

CHICAGO (AP) — Cook County jail guards felled a United States Thanksgiving Day break by nine prisoners, shooting and killing one of them. The others were recaptured in the jail yard.

Andrew Evans, 28, sentenced Nov. 16 to a three-to-10-year term in prison for larceny, was killed. Among the prisoners who participated in the break and were recaptured are Leonard J. (Butterball) Vranick, member of a "hijacking" gang, and Nick Lococo, awaiting trial on a charge of murdering Otto Freund, retired 84-year-old executive.

Lococo, a member of a so-called "tunnel gang" which bored its way into currency exchanges, is under sentence to prison for currency exchange burglaries.

Plague Of Rats Ravages Queensland

BRISBANE (Reuters) — Thousands of rats moving in the wake of drought have destroyed 40,000 acres of the best grazing land on Queensland's northern tropical coast. Reports said the ground was just a mass of moving rats which had to be seen to be believed.

Weather

Weather synopsis and official forecast issued at 9 a.m. Friday, Nov. 26, by the Dominion public weather office at Vancouver, valid until midnight Saturday.

Synopsis — An intensely cold mass of polar air is situated over the Yukon and eastern Alaska this morning and temperatures in this area are averaging 30 below zero. Snag in the Yukon territory is the coldest spot in this area, reporting a temperature this morning of 57 below zero. This cold air is at present sweeping across the Gulf of Alaska onto the B.C. coast, giving frequent snow showers over most of the province. However, another active storm is now entering the Gulf of Alaska and should bring southeast gales and rain to the coast during Saturday.

Vancouver and vicinity, lower Fraser Valley — Variable cloudiness today with occasional showers or snow flurries this afternoon. Cloudy tonight and Saturday morning becoming overcast Saturday afternoon. Light rain beginning Saturday evening. Light rain becoming Saturday afternoon. Winds westerly 15 today decreasing to light tonight and increasing to southeast 25 Saturday evening. Milder Saturday. Low tonight and high Saturday at Vancouver airport, 30-46. Abbotsford 29-46.

Strait of Georgia — Variable cloudiness with scattered snow flurries today. Cloudy tonight and Saturday morning becoming overcast Saturday afternoon. Light rain beginning Saturday afternoon. Winds westerly 15 today decreasing to light tonight and increasing to southeast 25 Saturday evening. Milder Saturday. Low tonight and high Saturday at Victoria 35-48.

West coast Vancouver Island — Cloudy with occasional snow flurries today becoming overcast tonight. Light rain beginning Saturday morning becoming intermittent Saturday night. Winds westerly 20 today decreasing to light tonight and increasing to southeast Saturday morning and to southeast 40 Saturday afternoon and evening. Milder Saturday. Low tonight and high Saturday at Estevan 38-48.

B.C. Ferry System Handicap To Highway

NELSON (CP) — A strong delegation will be sent to Ottawa when Parliament convenes in 1949, the Southern Trans-Canada Highway Association executive decided at a meeting Thursday.

E. R. McFarland of Lethbridge, Alta., association president, told the meeting of other western Canada executives felt the British Columbia ferry systems were definite handicaps to a first class Trans-Canada highway system.

The B.C. executives present agreed with this viewpoint, and unanimously agreed to call this matter to the immediate attention of Hon. E. C. Carson, Minister of Public Works.

It was recommended that surveys be made along the southern route to obviate such existing difficulties, so that early construction could be implemented.

The provincial works department today called tenders for clearing the right of way for the Dewdney Trunk Road, Coquitlam to Iloca revision. The bids must be in the hands of Works Minister E. C. Carson by noon Dec. 7.

NAVY AND COAST GUARD

CANADIANS FROM SEA TO SEA APpreciate the importance of their navy as a major defence force. On the coasts and inland they recognized the effectiveness of the men and ships who played such a conspicuous part in keeping open the sea lanes during the Second World War. Civilians, moreover, have had opportunity to note the efficiency of the men in blue in cases of emergency. The Fraser River floods furnished examples of fine co-ordination and easy assumption of responsibilities.
Rescue efforts at sea have provided further evidence of the navy's abilities.

At this particular stage, as we have noted previously in these columns, it is vital that a strong nucleus be established as a measure of preparedness against attack.
At the same time, it would be desirable if the training of naval personnel were conducted in a manner to emphasize peacetime use of facilities and men for the good of the country. The civilian hesitates to suggest to the naval expert how this might be done. But, with stout ships and competent sailors available, it appears to the lay mind that training might be organized in a manner which rendered them ready for service in lieu of coast guard assistance which Canada so sadly lacks. The first duty of the navy, of course, must be defensive.
However, could not the vessels and personnel be so disposed on both coasts that they would be available for speedy dispatch to craft, both large and small, which are in distress?

The objection to the establishment of a Canadian Coast Guard along lines similar to that of the United States is, as we understand it, the expense involved. The argument is not without merit. On the other hand, there can be no serious case presented against expansion of naval facilities during the uncertain times through which we are passing. If the increased expenditure entailed in that development could be charged, in part at least, to the provision of a peacetime Coast Guard service it unquestionably would be accepted with even better grace by the Canadian taxpayer.

The proposal is not without precedent.
The aerial survey work conducted by the R.C.A.F. is generally appreciated by Canadians who see in it not only a means of providing valuable experience for members of that branch of the forces, but also a positive contribution of national peacetime benefit. Moreover, the United States Army engineers are employed in several American projects of specific civilian value.
Our neighbor's plan to use that branch in a project to control and utilize the Columbia River is a case in point.

As far as Coast Guard service by the navy in this region is concerned, it should be noted that existing rescue facilities are assisted by the local R.C.N. authorities.
Could they not be expanded? It is not suggested that the navy forego defence training by such a move. On the other hand, would not the familiarity with coastal waters and gale conditions that seamen gained by providing Coast Guard service stand them in good stead should new global "trouble" require operations close to

SINS OF THE FATHERS

THE UNITED NATIONS ASSEMBLY, ON the recommendation of its subsidiary, the World Health Organization, will soon consider the adoption of a universal bill of rights for children—a document that contains far-reaching proposals for the improvement of living conditions for the future adult citizens of all countries. From an initial assertion that "the child must be protected, irrespective of considerations of race, nationality, religion, political belief, economic or social condition," the draft bill proceeds to enumerate various ways in which that protection may be provided.
Means for normal mental and physical growth and social development extending beyond a mere "absence of disease or infirmary," provision of healthful family surroundings in which the child may experience full love and security, development of proper educational facilities and training for life, protection from "every form of exploitation," inculcation of a consciousness of the importance to happiness contained in service to one's fellowmen—these are some of the concepts set as the goal in a better world for children.

There will be many reading these aims who will be struck by the irony of calling upon adults to provide opportunities and improvements which the actions of adults all too often destroy. Such a thought may have been in the mind of the Venezuelan representative at the U.N. meeting in Paris recently when he suggested that it would be well for world statesmen to keep promi-
graphs which show, amid ruined buildings, those children with aged faces that are the legacy of war."

War, and its terrible "legacy," would seem to be the greatest danger that hangs over the heads of children in this 20th Century world. If that threat could be removed—if the bitter, crippling memories of past conflicts and the numbing forebodings of future cataclysms could be wiped away—
the world would have come a long way toward giving the children of all nations the safeguards embodied in the bill of rights. But doubly guilty are those nations that seek to twist the minds of their young, that teach hate and regimentation, that try to employ their youth in the nefarious machinations of power politics. Children who grow to manhood and womanhood in such an environment—who breathe the tainted air of totalitarianism all their young lives—will later have little sympathy with bills of rights for their own offspring. The sins of the fathers can be visited on many generations.

CO-OPERATION THE SOLUTION

ACCORDING TO A CANADIAN PRESS dispatch the other day, the city of Winnipeg is about to face what is described as "one of its worst street railway tie-ups this winter unless steps are taken soon to alleviate the present rush-hour traffic situation."

The tone of this intimation seems to have a familiar ring. By substituting the term bus system for that of street railway the prospect faced by Canada's fourth largest city would seem to apply to conditions which Victorians may experience during the decreasing number of shopping days before Christmas.

The argument has been advanced from time to time that if employers of labor would "stagger" working hours this problem of overcrowding of transportation facilities could soon be solved. This is obviously a debatable point.

The solution, in our opinion, rests very largely with the citizens of Victoria themselves. They know that if housewives, for example, were to make up their minds at this particular season of the year to do their utmost to complete their shopping between the hours of ten o'clock in the morning and, say, three o'clock in the afternoon, they would be contributing in a practical fashion to the elimination of uncon-fortable bus travel when most of the working population is heading homeward later in the day. In other words, if we may offer a suggestion, it would be the general application of a co-operative procedure which,
as a matter of fact, has been advocated for weeks past in most of the communities of Canada and the United States.

Reduced to simple terms, then, we repeat that if all who can will do their shopping in those hours when bus traffic is not overtaxed, little discomfort should result.

THE WORMS TURNED

NEWS DISPATCHES PERIODICALLY come up with items that well illustrate the functioning of that turn of fate which we know by such names as "just retribution," "poetic justice," or similar terms, and they remind us that the world generally sides with the under-dog. The worm that turns quite often becomes a hero, even though the early bird may later catch him. There will be little public sympathy, then, with the president of the National Society for the Retention of Corporal Punishment in Schools who has received a caning at the hands of a group of his prospective victims. The official in question, incidentally, is also a manufacturer of canes such as are used in chastising English schoolboys.

It seems that he went, with a bundle of 20 sample canes under his arm, to lecture to the pupils of a school near Stafford, England, on the subject of corporal punishment—a type of discipline the school does not employ. He had just remarked that "the most reasonable punishment is six of the best," when a number of the pupils seized him and, holding him on the floor, administered seven strokes with one of his own canes. The closing scene found the gentleman leaving for London, vowing to consult his lawyers.

It is not often that life presents so quick and close a sequence of cause and effect; of crime and punishment, if you will; or at least of action and reaction. But the discomfiture of the advocate of corporal punishment can only have been equalled by the heartfelt satisfaction of the youngsters who brought about his downfall. Six of the best and one for good measure—the ranks of schoolboys throughout England must have raised a cheer.

A 'HAM' IN NEED . . .

UNDER ORDINARY CIRCUMSTANCES
"hams" are a class of individuals who enjoy radio conversations with one another, and who are constantly developing their transmission facilities to achieve higher standards. In emergencies, however, they can become vital links in a communications system that helps to bring assistance to those isolated through failure of the more usual channels of intercourse. The instances in which amateur operators facilitated the interchange of news and instructions to the people of the Albernis furnish a case in point.

Because of the proven and potential value of these radio enthusiasts, it is encouraging to learn that organization is now under way by which they will form a voluntary corps that will swing into action in emergencies.
The technical details of their hobby will be lost on the average layman. His appreciation for their abilities to render assistance when it is needed is, nevertheless, very genuine.
As they continue their engrossing study of radio and find expression for their interests in the operation of amateur stations, they are providing a substantial asset for the communities in which they are located. Their activities deserve encouragement.

There is no real danger until the wrong side becomes strong enough to attract the timid who want to be on the winning side.

All things are relative. A man is pleased when told he looks 65—providing he is pushing 80.

The Kremlin Pays

By JOSEPH and STEWART ALSOP
From London

EVERY REASONABLY well-informed person knows that the Soviet Union gives financial support to the world Communist movement. Yet very little has been known of just how this is done. It is this which makes so interesting the specific details of Soviet financial support for the French Communist Party which came to light during the recent French coal strike.

Some of the facts were revealed a few days ago in the French Assembly by the leftwing Socialist Jules Moch, the French Minister of the Interior. Others have become available since. The facts concern the role played by a peculiar financial institution which is known as "the Commercial Bank of Northern Europe."

OSTENSIBLY, this is just a bank like any other bank. In fact, it is the main channel for money given to the French Communist party by the government of the Soviet Union.

It is organized as a French company, and it occupies respectable quarters in the Rue de l'Arcade, in Paris. However, of its 100,000 shares of capital, 99,700 are owned by two Soviet banks, which means of course that the bank is owned by the Soviet government. Its manager is a former Russian citizen, Charles Hilsun, now naturalized, and it has a select board of directors, consisting of a Russian, one Ostrovsky, and two French Communists.

THE BANK is capitalized at only 50,000,000 francs, but it has assets in France of 1,000,400,000 francs. Largely through this bank, the Soviet government has made an investment in the French coal strike of upwards of $100,000 a day.

Some of this investment was public. The Soviet miners of the Donbas, Kuznets, Ural and Moscow coal basins, for example, made a large "voluntary, popular" contribution—in other words they were taxed a proportion of their wages. The rubles thus collected from the hard-pressed Russian miners were then exchanged into francs by the Soviet government (which ordinarily guards its foreign exchange like an anxious mother) and turned over to the French Communists.
The Soviet satellite states obediently followed suit, and the total thus contributed came to a little over $900,000 in the franc equivalent.

THIS SUM IS BY no means a measure of Moscow's generosity, however. Far larger sums were delivered secretly to the Communist leaders. In certain cases the details were handled directly between Soviet diplomats and the French Communists.
More often the French Communists drew on the Commercial Bank of Northern Europe.

These secret transfers were concealed by the Communists by a simple device. The Communists repeatedly announced very large donations to the coal miners from the comrades in other French unions and labor groups. In fact, the French workers were not so free handed. Much the greater part of these "donations" consisted of drawings by the Communist leaders on the Soviet-owned bank.

THE FACT is of course that the coal strike was in many ways justified by the desperate economic squeeze on the French miners. But this should not be allowed to obscure the fact that, through the Moscow-controlled bank the Soviet government intervened drastically in the internal affairs of France. The coal strike is now over.
But in terms of heavy pressure brought to bear against the French government and the partial wrecking of French recovery, the Soviet investment in the strike no doubt paid off handsomely.

Moreover, similar investments will undoubtedly continue to be made in the future. There is every reason to believe that Soviet financial support for the French Communists will continue, and that the campaign of "rotating" strikes, ordered by the Kremlin for the purpose of bringing French recovery to a halt, will go on.

THE PATTERN of Soviet intervention in the internal affairs of other countries suggested by the facts reported above is not confined, of course, to France. It is interesting, for example, that the Commercial Bank of Northern Europe has had on deposit in the United States upward of $2,500,- 000. It may be safely assumed that the movement of this money is very carefully watched. But in a free economy such supervision is difficult. And a study of Communist finances made some years ago indicated that out-size profits allowed certain businessmen in their financial dealings with the Soviet government eventually enriched the Communist party's treasury.

CLEARLY, this kind of thing is one of the Soviet Union's most useful weapons in the cold war. The only possible American response is to continue the great effort to build a non-Soviet world in which miners will not starve, and the Communist parties of the continent, now so menacing, will become hardly more than a nuisance, as is the Communist Party in the United States.
This effort will not succeed overnight. But already in France and Western Europe there are signs that it is beginning to succeed.

(Copyright, 1948, New York Herald Tribune Inc.)

Some of us have called for war with Communist Russia—the sooner the better—in vain hope that we could "get it over with" and be done with the menace of communism. But the blunt truth is that Russia could be reduced to rubble, and that wouldn't destroy international communism.—Eric Johnston, president, Motion Picture Association of America.

The Issue At Paris

Working A New Line Soon

By JAMES THRASHER, From New York

RIGHT now is a good time for the United States to be alert for a possible shift in domestic Communist tactics. For the elections results dictate a radical change in party strategy.

The Reds took a bad beating in Henry Wallace's trifling vote, since he ran on a substantially Communist platform. His defeat repudiated the apologists for Soviet aggression, and clearly indicated the meagre opposition in the country to European aid and other instruments of bipartisan foreign policy.

NO SYMPATHY

Now, if their past practices are any guide, the Communists will drop Mr. Wallace, and fast.
The party has no sympathy with failure. It pays off on results, not effort. Mr. Wallace may try to keep his party going, but it will probably have to go along without the Moscow-directed breath.

A Republican president and Congress might have impelled the far left to stick with the third party and yell against "reaction." But Mr. Truman, campaigning and winning on a New Deal platform, gave the comrades some new problems in the fields of politics and labor.

A tip-off on the next switch in party line might be found in the post-election claims of Mr.
Wallace. He now says that his party "forced the Democrats to don the mantle of Roosevelt and to promise the American people a return to the New Deal." This might mean that the Communists will try to drift back into the party they supported during the war—even though they get rid of Mr. Wallace enroute.

NO COMFORT

If they do they will find that Mr. Truman, in spite of his "red herring" campaign speeches, is unsympathetic toward domestic as well as foreign Communism.
Nor will they get much comfort out of Congress, no matter who controls it. But, in the field of labor, there may be one grain of comfort for them in the Democratic victory. For the new Congress is pretty sure to throw out at least part of the Taft-Hartley Law—including, perhaps, the section requiring non-Communist affidavits from union officers.

This would turn the federal spotlight off the Communists and pro-Communists in labor.
Working once more in semi-darkness they would likely try to regain some of the power they lost when the light and heat were on.

We should imagine that the Communists will work quietly for a time. They have said about all they can against the Marshall Plan. Now they may get orders to button their lips, concentrate on domestic objectives, put on democratic disguises and once again make noises like good New Dealers.

NO HONESTY

But we may well be wary of any show of moderation and cooperation. The comrades put no high value on honesty. Nor is consistency a jewel in the Communist diadem. The Reds have been for Hitler and against him, anti-Roosevelt and pro-Roosevelt, foes of capitalism and cooperators with capitalism. They can just as easily be pro-Marshall Plan if it suits their purpose. So it behooves the rest of us to keep our eyes open and not be fooled.

Harnessing The Giant For Service

By DR. J. ROTBLAT in London Calling

IT was not until the war years that we learned how to gain access to the sources of atomic energy on the earth. Although the first public demonstration of this discovery was the atom bomb which destroyed the city of Hiroshima, scientists had already established that atomic energy could be released and utilized for peaceful purposes as well. British scientists took a leading part in these discoveries and a small atomic-energy plant has been in operation in Britain since last year, and very recently another much larger plant started to work.

BEFORE THE BOMB

In the United States, atomic-energy plants were operating even before the first bomb was dropped on Japan.

In principle, the problem of releasing atomic energy has been completely solved. It is a fairly easy matter to build a system in which energy is steadily released in the form of heat. All one needs is to assemble a sufficiently large quantity of certain materials, the most important of which is uranium.
By means of an extremely simple method of control, the rate of release of power can be maintained at any desired value.

All this is in principle; in practice, there are still some technical difficulties to overcome. They concern the best methods of extracting the heat.
It is these difficulties which have delayed the construction of the first power plants, but there can be no doubt that they will be overcome soon, and that the first pilot plants will be in operation in the very near future.

Another difficulty may be prevented by the supply of atomic fuel. The only material which can be used directly is uranium and, although the actual amount of uranium burnt up is extremely small, one needs a very large quantity of it before the plant will start to work at all. Uranium is, however, a rare substance, and rich ores of it are found only in a very few places in the world.

Fortunately, scientists have already discovered that another substance, thorium, can also be utilized, although in an indirect way. Thorium is a much more common element; it appears in various parts of the world, but most of it comes from India.

OTHER ELEMENTS

In the course of time, it may become possible to use other elements, as well, and then there will be no shortage of atomic fuel.

It is impossible to predict all various uses of atomic power.
It may be applied to propel large vessels and submarines,

but it is very unlikely that it will be used to drive cars, aeroplanes, or small ships. In fact, the use of atomic energy is likely to be highly centralized.
There are several reasons for this.

Firstly, because one needs a very large quantity of uranium to get even a small plant going,
and, consequently, the capital investment will be prohibitive.
The second reason is that very intense radiations accompany the release of atomic energy.

A plant producing 100,000
kilowatts of power, manufactures, at the same time, radiations equivalent to 350 tons of radium. If these radiations were allowed to escape, they would kill anyone within a large area around the plant. In order to stop these radiations, the plant has to be completely enclosed in walls of steel and concrete, from 8 to 12 feet thick. This makes the system very heavy, and rules out the possibility of an easily mobile plant.

The third reason is that each atomic-power plant inevitably produces materials which could be converted into atomic bombs.
It would, therefore, be essential to keep all these plants under control, so that the dangerous material will not fall into undesirable hands, and the smaller the number of stations the easier it will be to control them.

INTERNATIONAL CONTROL

In fact, the whole future of the development of atomic energy hinges on the reaching of an agreement between nations on a scheme of international control. Let us hope that such agreement will be reached soon, and that the immense benefits of this great discovery will become available to the peoples of the world.

GLOBAL SURVEY

By DeWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press News Analyst

A SERIOUS problem has been created in the newspaper world of western Germany by the decision of the Allied military government that former owners may by 1952 regain property after being cleared by denazification courts.

The newspapers now are being run in their old plants by carefully-screened publishers who have been licensed by the military authorities. Under the new property ruling, those who owned the newspapers during the Hitler regime may, after denazification, take over their plants from the licensees.

This naturally raises the question of what ideological complexion the newspapers will have if the old guard take over. Can the leopard change its spots?
The present-day German publishers think not. They maintain that the owners who operated under the Hitler regime are too much steeped in the totalitarian Nazi code to be able to shake it off and adapt themselves to postwar conditions.

IRON HAND

Hitler ruled the press with an iron hand through that vicious little devil, Joseph Goebbels, his propaganda minister. Day after day the unspeakable Goebbels manipulated the newspapers of the entire country to suit the policy of the dictatorship. He gave the people what he wanted them to have, irrespective of truth.

A great deal of this propaganda was accepted as gospel by the general public. Indeed, much of it undoubtedly was accepted as fact by many publishers of newspapers. That being so, are we to suppose that the views of a defeated and embittered people are going to have changed overnight?
I think not. I have been in Germany since the war and the look in the eyes of many of the people says that they are beaten physically but not mentally. They are much the same folk as those who fought under Hitler.

EXTREME CAUTION

So it seems obvious that the military authorities will have to move with extreme caution in allowing Hitlerian-regime publishers to take back their plants and resume publication of their own newspapers. The denazification courts will have to proceed with great circumspection to make sure that no section of the press reverts to Nazi methods.

CLIPPED at RANDOM

RETURN TO HOME LIFE

Washington Post
Time was when people had to provide their own entertainment
—by singing around the piano, playing checkers, or performing parlor tricks. And even in recent times they have had to go to the physical effort of holding books and magazines and even at times of absorbing their contents.
Worse still, they had to put out a lot of effort in conversation.
The radio lessened some of their strenuous living and now "progress" via the video if furthering their vegetative life. They can simply lean back in their chairs, relax, look and listen. That is,
if there isn't too big a crowd in front of the television screen.

PUZZLING PARADOX

Montreal Gazette
A recent report from Regina presented the somewhat puzzling paradox of new capital investment, from as far away as Britain and Sweden, being sought by one of the foremost apostles of a political creed which preaches that capitalism is an iniquity and should be supplanted by state ownership. Indeed, the same apostle heads a socialist government which has imposed restrictive hobbles on the operation of private enterprise and has invaded with state undertakings particular fields traditionally left to competitive private business to develop.

LOOK BEFORE LEAPING

Edmonton Journal
The voters of Oregon, and especially its taxpayers, are discovering that they are the government and that they have to pay the bills.

This unpleasant discovery has come to them, as it must to the people of any community, large or small, as a result of a generous impulse to have the "government" pay a $50-a-month old-age pension, regardless of need.

The cost will run to more than $100,000,000 a year, which is quite a lot of money even for a rich state. Now the Oregonians are reported looking to the courts and the state Legislature to get them out of the financial tangle into which they voted themselves so lightheartedly!

No Parallel For Citizenship Relations Of Eire, Britain

LONDON (Reuter) — Prime Minister Attlee's announcement on Eire in Parliament Thursday is regarded by political quarters here as creating an unparalleled constitutional situation which presumably may continue indefinitely.

A problem would arise only in the event of a claim by some foreign country for privileges equal to those which Eire, after the passing of the bill repealing her External Relations Act, will continue to enjoy. Attlee said that, even though passing of the act cuts Eire's official ties with the Commonwealth, citizens of Eire will be able to claim British citizenship.

An official British government committee of interdepartmental representatives has been set up here to consider the formal changes resulting from repeal, it was learned.

An authoritative source offered the opinion that the diplomatic status of Eire would probably eventually be "somewhere midway between a member of the Commonwealth and a foreign country."

Britain's decision to continue to extend special treatment to Eire, amounting to equality with members of the Commonwealth, is based, Attlee explained, on ties of kinship and traditional social, economic and trade relations.

Clearly, all constitutional developments of this nature involve individual problems which make it impossible for any one case to provide the pattern for all.

Free Week-end Rations For Cadets In Training

Three square meals a day now are to be issued free of charge to army cadets taking part in week-end exercises whether on their own or attached units of the reserve force for purposes of the manoeuvres.

Formerly, individual or local arrangements had to be made to feed members of school cadet corps, frequently resulting in confusion as to who would foot the bill.

New regulations state that all units of the Royal Canadian Army Cadet Corps now will be issued rations similar to and in the same manner as reserve army units conducting week-end training exercises.

Urges B.C. Farm Output Increased

VANCOUVER (AP) — Public Works Minister E. C. Carson said today there is a need for a three-way partnership among the federal and provincial governments and the farmers to step up British Columbia's agricultural output.

Speaking at the 15th annual meeting of the B.C. Federation of Agriculture, Mr. Carson suggested increased acreage, better irrigation and an extension of its road systems as methods by which the two governments could aid farmers.

"We are looking forward to the time when we can supply not only ourselves but also help replenish the world's bread basket," he said.

He described B.C. as a province with a flexible acreage. Additional acreage, he said, "is long overdue and is something we should be all working for."

B.C. should get the same government assistance for large irrigation as does Alberta, the Works Minister argued.

Caretaker Service For Wharves Sought

Action toward providing caretaker services at Fishermen's Wharves was sought by the Victoria Chamber of Commerce in a letter received at the city clerk's office Thursday.

The letter congratulated the city for its prompt action with regard to provision of constant supplies of light and water, but said members of the Chamber had expressed concern that no arrangements were made for a caretaker.

Coldwell Addresses Quebec C.C.F. Club

MONTREAL (CP) — M. J. Coldwell, national leader of the C.C.F., appealed to the people of Quebec Thursday night to use the C.C.F. "as their next vehicle for the expression and development of a sound, democratic and genuinely national political force in Canadian life."

Speaking at a mass rally sponsored by the Cartier C.C.F. Club, he called on the citizens of Quebec "to take up the challenge of a new political faith; to build a powerful French-speaking section of the C.C.F. which can play its full part in molding the C.C.F. nationally and through it the future of the land."

On national unity, he said the problem of keeping a proper balance between the provinces and the Dominion was made much more difficult, even dangerous, by the emergence as politically powerful figures of such men as Premier Duplessis of Quebec and George Drew, national leader of the Progressive Conservative Party.

Pair Committed

George M. Haslam and Alexander Thomas, both of Victoria, jointly charged with the theft of an automobile engine, a logging truck bunk and an automobile wheel, were committed to higher court for trial by A. I. Thomas, J.P., in provincial police court Thursday.

The pair allegedly stole the goods from the mill of Parhar Kisham Singh on Munn's Road in the Highland district Sept. 17.

No Pre-Election Promises From Non-Partisan League Candidates

The days when candidates for public office indulged in pre-election promises are gone as far as seven Non-Partisan League candidates for the Dec. 9 civic elections are concerned.

Five aldermanic candidates and one each for the Police Commission and the Greater Victoria School Board, running under the banner of the league, spoke at Spencer's Auditorium Thursday night at the first public meeting of the league in the 1948 campaign.

None had any promises to make, other than to say they will do their best to better conditions in Victoria if they are elected to office. An audience of nearly 100 heard them.

CANDIDATES

The league candidates are:
City Council: Aldermen J. D. Hunter, Harold M. Diggon and Frank Mulliner; Douglas Fletcher and William H. Williams.
Police Commission: Archie Smith.

School Board: Austin I. Curtis. Five aldermen are to be elected this year for two-year terms; one police commissioner is to be elected; two city representatives on the school board are to be elected.

Chairman of the meeting was Denis Hagar and opening remarks were made by Ald. M. A. Hunter, a league candidate in last year's elections who has one year to serve still on the City Council.

NO STRINGS

Ald. Kent explained the objects of the league and he stressed that candidates are not directed by the league when they are elected.

"There are no strings in this," he said. "If there were, I'd not allow my name to be connected with the organization."

In their requests for support at the polls next month, Aldermen Hunter and Mulliner revealed new city undertakings planned.

ROAD PROJECTS

Dr. Hunter announced, as chairman of the city's public works committee, that Oak Bay Avenue from the Oak Bay junction to Foul Bay Road, will be rebuilt completely next year.

"That is the plan," he assured the meeting.

He also reported the city's intention to complete resurfacing of Blanshard Street from Pembroke Street to Hillside Avenue, which, he hoped, will be used as another arterial highway into and out of the downtown area.

Ald. Mulliner announced the intention of the city's Aged Men's Home committee to build an infirmary wing to the present building with funds derived through sale of property owned by the home.

"This will fill a great need. It will provide better service for our senior citizens," he stated.

GARBAGE CRUSHER

Both aldermen were optimistic that the city's garbage crusher which soon will be ready for operation, will be the answer next summer and in years to come to the garbage nuisance on beaches.

In the awarding of a tender to a California company to remove streetcar tracks this year, Ald. Hunter revealed that the U.S. firm's bid was less than half of only one other tender received. A Canadian company's bid was $237,000. The U.S. company's tender was $106,399.

Ald. Diggon gave a resume of progress in city affairs since he was first elected to the City Council four years ago.

BETTER TRANSPORTATION

He said the new transportation system has doubled the service available before and pointed out there still are many "kinks" to be straightened out. It was regrettable that there is an overcrowding of buses in rush hours, and efforts were being made to solve this problem without the rate structure being affected.

Mr. Fletcher said that if he is elected he will endeavor to bring about improvement to the transportation system.

He thought municipalities should receive a larger share of the province's 3 per cent sales tax than they now are scheduled to receive.

He explained that although he is retired from business, he is relatively young and will have much time to give to city business if elected.

SERVICE TO MAINLAND

Mr. Williams favored a city manager plan in the running of Victoria. He believed also that the city should make every effort to have boat services improved between here and the U.S. and Canadian mainlands.

He favored amalgamation of the municipalities of Greater Victoria "which is necessary for the future welfare of the people of the whole area."

Mr. Williams thought a review of the city's tax system was required. And he wants to see the Memorial Arena completed at the earliest possible date.

EFFICIENT POLICE

The police commission candidate, Mr. Smith, said:

"I am not going to make any promises, but if I am elected, I will work for an efficient and business-like operation of the police department."

He said he was seeking election because he believes every good citizen should devote some time and talent to the running of the city.

Mr. Curtis, chairman of the school board, said he was seeking re-election because he does not like to leave a job unfinished. He explained that he has been connected with the board's school building program since its inception. But construction work has been postponed because of high costs.

"Overcrowding of schools is the most pressing problem facing us, and I am offering myself as a candidate on the question of seeing the situation remedied," Mr. Curtis said.

117th Annual Statement

To many, money in the Bank meant college educations for their children; to others it made possible a long planned for holiday or the beginning of a home. To every depositor it spelled security for tomorrow. During the year deposits increased by $39,446,000 to $680,129,000.

New schools, watermains, sidewalks, highways and improved social services were among the constructive things the Bank helped to make possible through funds invested in government and municipal securities. Total investment in securities is $297,929,000.

Dollars entrusted to the Bank were the instruments by which thousands of businesses made more things and more jobs, and by which farmers increased their production of food. Loans by the Bank for an infinite variety of business, farming and personal activities increased by $35,500,000 to $293,400,000.

money for progress

Through 1948 The Bank of Nova Scotia again helped demonstrate one of the meanings of freedom. Many thousands of individuals making their own independent decisions, enabled the Bank to keep at work profitably total assets which have increased from $714,444,000 to a new high of $749,615,000.

Conservatives Retain Glasgow Seat

GLASGOW (CP)—The Conservative Party retained its seat in Glasgow's Hillhead division in Thursday's by-election, results showed today.

The Conservatives slightly increased their lead over that attained in the 1945 general election.

Conservative T. Galbraith defeated his Labor opponent, T. MacNair, 16,060 to 7,419. Only two candidates ran.

Today's margin was 8,641, compared with 6,363 in the 1945 election.

"Youth For Christ" Rally Saturday

A "Youth For Christ" rally will be held Saturday night at 7:30 in the Broad Street Auditorium with Rev. Bob Cheek of Seattle as speaker.

In moving the rally day from Monday to Saturday and increasing the number of rallies to two a month, it is hoped that the "Youth For Christ" rallies will make a counter appeal to youth as opposed to that of other Saturday night amusements.

Sentence Suspended

Cyril Ray Cliff, who pleaded guilty to obtaining money by false pretences, was given a suspended sentence by Magistrate H. C. Hall in Saanich police court Thursday afternoon.

C. L. Harrison, prosecutor, told the court accused illegally collected $7.25 in eight different places illegally representing himself as from the Anglican Synod. The court heard character evidence from several persons.

Principals In Mainland Wedding To Live Here

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Barrington Elworthy.—Photo by R. H. Marlow.

Miss Elizabeth Anne Laird in her exquisite Spanish Infanta gown of ivory velvet and lace, and Arthur Barrington Elworthy were wedding principals in a ceremony which linked well-known British Columbia families last Saturday afternoon.

The service was performed by Rev. C. M. Stewart at Canadian Memorial Chapel at 3.30.

On returning from a motoring honeymoon in California, Mr.

and Mrs. Elworthy will make their home in Victoria on Quadra Street.

The bride is the elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Scott Laird and granddaughter of Merrill DesBrisay, and the late Mrs. DesBrisay of Vancouver, and of the late Hon. and Mrs. Alexander Laird, Prince Edward Island.

The bridegroom is the eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Barrington Elworthy of Victoria and Vancouver, and grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander McDonald, who were among the many Victorians attending, and of the late Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Elworthy of Victoria.

The couple are both graduates of University of British Columbia, the bride a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority and Mr. Elworthy, who served during the war as a flying officer with the R.C.A.F., affiliated with Phi Delta Theta fraternity.

On this trip, Dr. Hitschmanova visited England, France, Belgium, Switzerland, Czechoslovakia, Poland, Germany and Austria. She is a director of the Unitarian Relief Service and has done much work in bringing aid and relief to children of Europe. The meeting will commence at 2.45.

Victoria To Receive Two New Residents

Among the numerous visitors who have decided to make Victoria their new home, are two interesting women, Miss Birdie DeBeck, left, and Miss Hazel Calbick. At present they are guests of their brother, and cousin, Mr. E. K. DeBeck, and Mrs. DeBeck, at their home on Somass Drive. Both women have been frequent visitors to the city. Miss DeBeck, who has made her home in Salem, Ore., for a number of years, spent a fortnight in Vancouver, where she visited her sister, Mrs. George McCrossan, before crossing to Victoria. Miss Calbick, who for the last few years has lived on Gabriola Island, spent a number of years in Vancouver where she taught school.—Photo by Bill Halkett.

Leave On Southern Honeymoon

Diaphanous white chiffon, the billowing skirt gathered to a snugly fitted shirred waist, gown Lillian Bishop, daughter of Mrs. John Crause, 910 Jasmine Avenue, when she became the bride of Leslie H. Blow, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Blow of Chilliwack.

Following their wedding last Saturday evening at Church of Our Lord, the newlyweds left on a honeymoon motor trip to southern United States.

Mr. Crause gave the bride in marriage. A classic coronet held her chapel veil and she carried a bouquet of scarlet roses and white chrysanthemums.

A triple strand of pearls, her groom's gift, was her only ornament.

Pale blue taffeta fashioned the attractive gown worn by maid of honor Miss Jean Eyres. Her Juliet cap, the same shade as her gown, was trimmed with pink and blue blossoms, and she carried a bouquet of pink carnations and white chrysanthemums.

The groom's brother, Floyd Blow, acted as best man. Guests were seated by Murray Scotney and Bert Walker.

For the ceremony performed by Rev. D. L. Gordon, J. Ingram Smith played wedding music. H. R. Dunn sang "Because," while the register was signed.

Carbery Collins proposed the toast to the bride at a reception held at Marigold Hall.

Silver vases of baby white mums graced the table, centred with a triple-tiered wedding cake. Mrs. Crause and Mrs. Blow assisted the justweds in receiving guests.

Mrs. L. H. Eyres and Mrs. P. DeMacedo presided at the urns, and Mrs. R. Richards and Mrs. J. Mammal assisted in serving.

The couple will make their home in the city on their return from the wedding trip.

Mrs. Blow traveled in a pale blue gabardine suit with accessories and topcoat in black, and corsage bouquet of gardenias and red rosebuds.

Girl Guides Receive Message From Princess

TORONTO (CP)—The chief commissioner of the Canadian Girl Guides has received a cable from Princess Elizabeth thanking the Girl Guides for "Your kind message of congratulations on behalf of all Rangers and Brownies in Canada." It is signed "Elizabeth and Philip."

Junior Chapter—Regent, Mrs. A. H. C. Phillips, presided at the meeting of the Thunderbird Squadron (Junior) Chapter, I.O.D.E., held at headquarters. It was reported by the secretary that a Christmas food parcel had been sent to Britain; eight nursery bags and used clothing to the value of $37 forwarded to Municipal Chapter; a contribution sent to the I.O.D.E. endowment fund and a magazine subscription renewed to the D.V.A. Hospital. Chapter members volunteered to tag on Dec. 4 for the United Services Emergency Fund. Preliminary plans to hold a co-ed dance in the new year were discussed.

Group To Award $50 Scholarship In Home Economics

Members of Victoria Home Economics Association, in meeting Wednesday evening, decided to award a $50 scholarship annually to a home economics student at Victoria College who will continue her studies in home economics.

It was also decided to donate $5 to the Community Chest.

Miss Yvonne Love presided and a panel discussion was held with Miss Mollie Robertson, nutrition committee convenor introducing the speakers, Misses Doris Fisher and June McCutcheon and Miss Elizabeth Holes of the dietetic staff Royal Jubilee Hospital.

Miss Fisher discussed low sodium diets and their use by cardiac patients; Miss McCutcheon chose as her subject, "Diet in Pregnancy" while Miss Holmes spoke on "Inadequate Nutrition With An Adequate Diet."

Miss Robertson rounded out the nutrition survey with a discussion of various phases of nutrition work being carried on in Canada by provincial government groups, civic groups, the Red Cross and others.

Holly Bazaar Planned

A special meeting was held Wednesday by the Junior Auxiliary to the B.C. Protestant Orphanage at which final plans were made for the annual Holly Bazaar to be held on Dec. 4, commencing at 2.30, at the Home, 2691 Cook Street.

Miss Elizabeth Mackie, conveners for the affair announced that the following members would be in charge of the stalls: Aprons, Miss Margaret Loudoun; babywear, Miss Pat Gallagher; novelties, Mrs. Marnie Leggett; homecooking, Miss Peggy Lowe; candy, Miss Pat Scrivener; garden, Miss Jessie McDowell; fish pond, Miss Lorna Burns.

Tea arrangements will be under direction of Miss Phyllis Mugford.

The Holly Bazaar will be officially opened by Mrs. Walter Luney, president of the ladies' committee of the orphanage.

Proceeds will be used for added comforts and clothing for the children.

Naval Wedding Unites Young Victoria Couple

Pentirelew, one of Victoria's historic homes, now the church of the Victoria Truth Centre, was the setting for a naval wedding today at 3 o'clock, when Hilda, daughter of Commander H. W. S. Soulsby, R.C.N. (ret'd) and Mrs. Soulsby, 1814 Monteith Street, Victoria, became the bride of Lieutenant (S) Thomas Claude Treherne, R.C.N., son of the late R. C. Treherne and Mrs. Treherne of 1075 Verrinder Avenue, Victoria.

Tall standards of pastel chrysanthemums flanked the altar, the beautiful carving work of the bride's father. The ceremony was performed by Rev. E. M. Smiley.

Given in marriage by her father, the fair-haired bride wore lovely in a picture gown of fine white lace, with long fitted bodice, high neckline finished with a small Peter Pan collar and longilly point sleeves. Her full skirt, slightly en train, fell in soft folds from the lowered waistline. A finger-tip veil of illusion net was held by a coronet of lace. She carried a cascade bouquet of pink Rapture roses and white swansonia.

The bride was attended by Miss Rosalind Wilkinson, who wore an artistic gown of stiff satin, robin's egg blue with woven design. Her frock had a rounded neckline, short sleeves and a bouffant, floor length skirt.

White net mittens and a floral bandeau matching her arm bouquet of white chrysanthemums completed her costume.

Lieut. Maurice A. Turner, R.C.N., was best man. Guests were ushered to their seats by Alan Soulsby, brother of the bride, and Lieut. C. R. Manifold, R.C.N. Wedding music was played by Mrs. Eileen Dumbleton Chiverrall.

As the wedding party left the church they passed beneath an arch of crossed swords formed by a guard of honor of the groom's fellow officers.

A reception was held in the lounge of Royal Victoria Yacht Club, where parents of the young couple assisted them in receiving guests. Mrs. Soulsby wore a royal blue ensemble with corsage bouquet of white roses and Mrs. Treherne wore silver grey and corsage bouquet of pink Talsman rosebuds. Commander A. C. Wurtelle, R.C.N. (ret'd), her godfather, proposed the toast to the bride.

For traveling the bride wore a fur coat over a soft woollen dress of delft blue with matching hat of the same material and brown accessories. Lieut. and Mrs. Treherne are taking a short honeymoon trip by motor before leaving for Ottawa where the groom is stationed at naval headquarters.

Y.P. Societies

Chinese United—The Chinese United Y.P.U. held its regular meeting at Chinese Christian Community Hall with Muriel Lee presiding. Program opened with a sing-song. Kay Peat, missions convener, presented a missions program with a quiz. Isabel Lee reported on Young People's annual convention at New Westminster. Plans for election and installation, and reception of new members were discussed. Anna Lee gave a piano solo. Next meeting will be Dec. 10.

St. Mary's—Padre J. Rapson led devotionals at the regular meeting of St. Mary's Anglican Young People's Association, held Wednesday evening in the parish hall. A short business meeting followed, when plans were completed for a card party to be held in the hall tonight. Reports were received on sale of church calendars, on parcels for overseas and the recent banquet and dance. Members of St. John's A.Y.P.A. were special guests at a social which followed, with games arranged by Vida Morley, social convener. Refreshments were served the group of the month, led by Marjorie Gibbs. Next week members will meet at the hall for business and instruction of new members soon to be initiated, followed by attendance at a box social being held by the So-ed at the Y.M.C.A.

Chinese Y.P.U.—A reception to honor Rev. Stephen M. S. Lee, Chinese Presbyterian Church, Portland, Ore., was held by the Chinese United Young People's Union at the Chinese Christian Community Centre, Monday. Rev. Lee is dean of the Pacific Northwest Chinese Christian Youth Conference, coming to Victoria to attend the conference reunion held here over the weekend. Jack Spiller, president of B.C. Conference Y.P.U. opened the program with a sing-song. Rev. Lee then spoke on the P.N.C.C.Y.C. conference held annually at Burton, Wash., stressing the spiritual aspects of the program. Guests included Miss Grace Baker, Rev. C. Y. Chow, Mrs. Dorsey, Miss Betty Spiller, Miss Ella Marr, Miss Bradshaw, Mr. and Mrs. Wong Hong, Mr. Chow Sing, and Miss Mavis Lee. Refreshments were served by Victoria committee of the P.N.C.C.Y.C.

P.T.A. News

Happy Valley—F. J. Willway thanked members of the Happy Valley P.T.A. at their meeting, for a slide projector purchased for the school which he announced was being used in teaching social studies, with slides provided through the provincial library and university extension. A letter of thanks was also received from a pupil of the school. Date of the annual community Christmas party at Luxton was set for Dec. 15 with a Christmas tree for the children and a program provided by pupils of the school under direction of the teachers. Following the meeting Mr. Willway showed slides and refreshments were served. A display of projects, including woodwork, sewing cards, clay modelling and painting done by pupils of grades one and two, were set up by Miss S. Abbott in the junior room for the benefit of the gathering. Woodwork was done with tools provided by the Parent-Teacher Association at the beginning of the term.

Jordan River—Arrangements were made for a tea and sale of work and home cooking to be held in the school Dec. 3 at 2, at a meeting of Jordan River P.T.A. Mrs. H. G. Rough was named convener. Dec. 16 is the date named for the Christmas concert, to be held in the school hall. Mr. and Mrs. G. Oliver are in charge of arrangements, for purchasing gifts for the Christmas tree and decorating the hall. On behalf of members, vice-president Mrs. J. Elliott presented six coffee spoons to Mr. and Mrs. G. Oliver, in appreciation of their interest shown in organizing the Jordan River P.T.A. Mrs. Oliver also received a corsage bouquet of gardenias. Next meeting will be Jan. 26.

Clubwomen's News

Sale of Work—Mrs. C. O'Brien, Vancouver, provincial field director, opened the sale of work held by Review No. 1, W.B.A. The president, Mrs. Annie Barraclough, welcomed guests. Afternoon tea was served, with the head table covered with a lace cloth and centred with pink carnations and tall candles to match. Tea arrangements were in charge of Mesdames K. Schmelz, K. Jacques, and A. Davis, assisted by Mesdames M. Williams and H. Grass. During the affair, vocal solos were given by Miss M. Bavin, accompanied by her mother.

Co-Convener At Saturday's Bazaar-Tea

Mrs. Harold Ker, who with Mrs. Moulson Smith, is convening arrangements for the afternoon tea to be served at the bazaar and tea sponsored by Florence Nightingale Chapter, I.O.D.E., in the K. of P. Hall, Cormorant Street, this Saturday afternoon, from 1 until 5. Mrs. J. L. Ford, Municipal Chapter regent, will be an honor guest with Miss Mary Irvine, supervisor, T.B. Pavilion, Royal Jubilee Hospital. A musical program will include numbers by Doreen Radcliff, Irene Nash, Beverley Baynton, Harold Ker, all members of the Victoria Light Opera Company; Joan Creighton, Victoria Philharmonic Orchestra, and Doreen Bull, pupil of Florence Clough Dance School.

Velda Wille Presents Fall Dance Fantasy

There is a rare treat in store for everyone attending the Royal Theatre on Dec. 1, when Velda Wille presents her pupils in Fall Fantasy.

This year the spotlight centres on "Pinocchio" with all the well-known characters — Jiminy Cricket, the Blue Fairy, the Cat and the Fox, Geppetto and, of course, little Pinocchio himself, all coming to life and dancing their way into the hearts of young and old, through such delightful scenes as the "Puppet Show," "Pleasure Island," with its balloon girls, cotton candy sticks, bareback riders, and pirouettes, riding on a real merry-go-round, and the underwater ballet with lovely costumes, colorful scenery and delightful dancing. There will also be several clever tap routines, acrobatic turns, Irish dances, and the grand finale "A Frolic in the Park" with all the well loved music of the gay nineties.

Mickey Francis will be narrator for "Pinocchio." Reg Wood will conduct the orchestra with Doreen Bradshaw at the piano. The affair is being presented under the auspices of Esquimaux Chapter, I.O.D.E.

By PÉTÉ SALLAWAY

THAT old sport adage that a good big team can always whip a good little team will get another test tomorrow when Calgary Stampede, pride of the west, tackle Ottawa Roughriders, best in the east, for the Canadian football championship. Stampede, undefeated this season, go into the sudden-death final for the Grey Cup, outweighed 10 pounds per man in the line. Just how important that extra poundage will prove will be better known early tomorrow afternoon when the successors to Toronto Argos have been crowned.

CALGARY'S strength all season has been in its forward-passing combination, Keith Spaitz to Woody Strode. If the Stampede are fortunate in getting a dry field and the Calgary line can provide Spaitz with the protection he needs to get his passes away, then the western titleholders stand a good chance to win. But then again that is where the extra weight in the Ottawa line may cause the Stampede a lot of trouble. If the Roughriders can break through and smother Spaitz a lot of the Calgary club's offensive strength will be nullified. I don't think Calgary's ground attack can stack up with that of the Roughriders.

VICTORIA'S Paul Rowe, enjoying his greatest football season with Calgary, gains additional honors by being named to the annual Canadian all-star team selected for Maclean's by Ted Reeve. Rowe was selected for one of the half-back positions. Two other Calgary players, Strode and Spaitz, also gained berths on the mythical line-up. In selecting Rowe, Reeve had the following to say about the big fellow: "Piston Paul is having his best year. Like Tony Golab of Ottawa he has been pepped up by having better interference to lead him and more help in his tireless defensive work. Rowe is showing no ill effects of his war service years and along with Golab would make the ideal left and right secondaries and the double-line smashing threat. Rowe is very fast, weighing around 210 and is a flaming competitor."

AFTER making a strong bid for first-honors in the Coast League soccer race, Victoria United opens the second-half campaign tomorrow afternoon against formidable North Shore. The Reds will be no pushover, that's a cinch, and the United will have to be at its best to come up with the two points. To win the Victoria players have to throttle the play-making of those two veterans, Trevor Harvey and Jimmy Spencer. North Shore's power centres around this pair, and it is their ability to shake Dave Brown in the clear that accounts for a lot of North Shore goals. United edged the Reds in their last engagement here and Victoria fans are keeping their fingers crossed in the hope they will repeat the trick.

SOCCER SOCIAL

The Pacific Meat Company Division II and III juvenile soccer teams will hold a social at the manager's home, 2555 Vancouver Street, tomorrow at 6. All players and their friends are invited to attend.

DALLAS—Billy Conn, 188, Pittsburgh, knocked out Jackie Lyons, 184, Oklahoma City, 9.

High School Athletes Enter Indoor Meet

College, High School Ruggers Play To Tie

Victoria College second fifteen squad battled to a scoreless draw in yesterday's English rugger match at Vic High grounds.

High School was outplayed most of the way by the College rugger but put up strong goal-line stands to hold off all scoring threats.

Doug West came close to going over on one occasion but was knocked out of bounds inches from the High School line on a great tackle by Henderson.

Bhagat-Singh missed a penalty attempt from the 25-yard line on another College Thrust that failed to materialize.

Esquimalt High Wins Grass Hockey Tilt

Esquimalt High School girls grass hockey team took the first game of a home-and-home series with Victoria College yesterday, defeating the upper-grade students, 3 to 3 at the University School pitch.

The suburban team moved into a two-goal lead on counters by Dorothy Archer and Kay Spiers. Cicely Rositer cut the lead with a solo effort for College.

Margaret Burdon counted the clincher for Esquimalt just before the half came to a close. Gwen Hall scored College's final tally five minutes from full time.

Canada's Touring Ice Team Plays 49 Games

LONDON (CP)—A tentative 49-game itinerary for Canada's hockey team entered for the February world championships planned for Stockholm has been organized by J. A. (Bunny) Ahearn, secretary of the British Ice Hockey Association.

The team is scheduled for a 15-week tour through England, Scotland, France, Holland, Sweden, Czechoslovakia and Switzerland. There is only one doubtful arrangement. It is possible the world championships will be held in Davos instead of Stockholm, in which case six exhibition games in Sweden are subject to change.

Sailing from New York Dec. 24 on the liner Queen Elizabeth the Canadian team will play three London teams in the National League and then depart for Scotland to engage the seven Scottish League teams between Jan. 5 and 15.

A return to England on Jan. 16 will see them play in Nottingham and London again for two more matches. On Jan. 21 it's to Paris for two games up to Jan. 27 whence they visit Amsterdam briefly for one clash.

HEAVY SCHEDULE On Jan. 29, providing the world championships are there, they leave for Stockholm for six exhibition games up to Feb. 8. The period Feb. 11 to 20 is reserved for the championships in which, it is expected, about 10 countries will compete.

After Stockholm it's Prague for six games between Feb. 21 to March 2 then a four-game series in Zurich from March 3 to 9. On the return trip Paris is on the bill again for two more matches from March 10 to 12 and then London on March 13 with a narrow escape to spare for six more clashes with British League sides till March 24.

From March 25 a final tour of Scotland is planned where the team has eight games before leaving for Liverpool on April 11 to sail home aboard the Empress of France next day.

Other players still with the club are Sal Recca, top fielding catcher of 1948; pitchers Frank Lough, Len Kasparovitch and Wally Eads; shortstop Russ Walseth, third baseman Babe Jensen and utility man Lou Kubiak.

Patterson will leave for Minneapolis, Minnesota, shortly to attend the annual meeting of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues the week of Dec. 6.

Following the meeting Patterson should have the A's complete line-up for the 1949 W.I.L. season.

Eligible for the minor league draft which closed recently, Buccola was overlooked by class A, AA, and AAA teams and as a result becomes the property of the A's.

Buccola came to the A's last year from the Oakland club of the Pacific Coast League. He previously was with the A's in the 1946 season.

A class A club could have drafted Buccola for $1,800, class B $3,500, class AAA $4,000. Buccola was one of the four A's picked on the W.I.L. all-star team in 1948. He led the first basemen in fielding with a .990 mark, batted .310 and drove in 88 runs.

Young Cager Seeks Return Of Strip

Rex Weaver is unhappy! Rex is a member of Spencers basketball team. At least he was until he lost his strip. Now he doesn't play any more.

So if the person, who took the black bag containing the kit by mistake from the Metropolis Billiard Room, would return it, Rex would be able to renew his cage duties.

The bag may be returned to 1141 Fort Street, Spencers or the Times sports department.

Mathews Re-elected

At a meeting of the directors of the Uplands Golf Club this week, Ralph B. Mathews was elected president of the club for his fourth consecutive term.

Other officers follow: Vice-president and chairman of greens committee, George Pattinson; captain, Gordon Verley; vice-captain, J. G. (Bunny) Thomson; chairman, financial committee, Ed Revercomb; chairman, house committee, C. F. Smith; chairman, entertainment committee, J. Skellern, and general committee members, Dr. J. D. Calvert, A. Irish and George Austin.

Buccola Becomes Property Of A's

Vic Buccola, all-star Western International League first baseman, is now the property of the Victoria Athletics. Reg. Patterson, business manager of the A's, made the announcement last night as he released the names of players who are still on the Athletics list for the 1949 season.

Eligible for the minor league draft which closed recently, Buccola was overlooked by class A, AA, and AAA teams and as a result becomes the property of the A's.

Buccola came to the A's last year from the Oakland club of the Pacific Coast League. He previously was with the A's in the 1946 season.

Patterson will leave for Minneapolis, Minnesota, shortly to attend the annual meeting of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues the week of Dec. 6.

Following the meeting Patterson should have the A's complete line-up for the 1949 W.I.L. season.

Eligible for the minor league draft which closed recently, Buccola was overlooked by class A, AA, and AAA teams and as a result becomes the property of the A's.

Buccola came to the A's last year from the Oakland club of the Pacific Coast League. He previously was with the A's in the 1946 season.

A class A club could have drafted Buccola for $1,800, class B $3,500, class AAA $4,000. Buccola was one of the four A's picked on the W.I.L. all-star team in 1948. He led the first basemen in fielding with a .990 mark, batted .310 and drove in 88 runs.

Other players still with the club are Sal Recca, top fielding catcher of 1948; pitchers Frank Lough, Len Kasparovitch and Wally Eads; shortstop Russ Walseth, third baseman Babe Jensen and utility man Lou Kubiak.

Lou Boudreau Captures Valuable Player Award

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK (AP)—Lou Boudreau was the most valuable player in the American League in 1948—naturally!

Most everybody agreed on that a month ago. Now it's official on the vote of the 24-man committee of the Baseball Writers' Association.

The writers rated the athletes from one to 10, but Ed Burns of the Chicago Tribune, the retiring president, reports 22 of them named Boudreau first. The other two first-place ballots went to Joe DiMaggio, the pillar of New York Yankees.

If the vote had been taken after the world series, the shortstop-manager of the world-champion Cleveland Indians probably would have made a clean sweep. But this balloting was done before the series, in fact, before the American League pennant was decided in the final week of the season.

Boudreau made a good case for himself on the playing field.

1. He played the most short-stop of anybody in the league.

2. He led Cleveland to its first flag and series victory since 1920.

3. He hit .355, second only to Ted Williams, the champ.

4. He worked out the pick-off play that created such a stir in this series.

DiMaggio, most valuable in 1939, 1941, and 1947 was one of the most important reasons for the Yanks' third-place finish. His hitting and outfield play, despite a leg injury, kept New York in the race until the day before the end. He batted in 156 runs, most in the league, on a .320 average.

On a point basis, with 14 for first, nine for second and on down to one for 10th, Boudreau received 324 to 213 for Joe DiMaggio.

Ted Williams, the batting king with an unofficial .369, was third with 171, but no first-place votes. Next came Vern (Junior) Stephens, one of Williams' Boston Red Sox teammates. He polled 121 points to 101 for Cleveland's 20-game winner Bob Lemon, the only pitcher in the first five.

Joe Gordon, Boudreau's partner in Cleveland's fine double play combination, tied for sixth with the Yanks' Tommy Henrich who had a great year, hitting .308 and driving in 100 runs for the first time in his major league career. Each had 63 points.

a dead heat in the eighth race at Tanforan aboard Cargo Ship. Fire Away, ridden by James Nicols, was the other horse in the tie.

Even ganging up on the Fresno Falcons when they were short handed failed to win for the San Diego Skyhawks in the Pacific Coast Hockey League.

San Diego used five forwards in the attack while the penalty box was Falcon occupied, but Fresno won the Thanksgiving night game 3 to 2.

In the second frame wing Al Baccari put Fresno in front 2 to 1 and four minutes later Joey Peterson soloed for the final Falcon counter.

District League Soccer Tilts Carded

Victoria and District League soccer teams will play their usual double bill this weekend.

Canadian Legion and Oak Bay will meet in tomorrow's match starting at 2.15 at a park to be announced later.

On Sunday Victoria West will play Esquimalt at Bullen Park at 2.15.

Intermediate Soccer Lead May Change Hands Tomorrow

First place in the intermediate soccer league will be at stake tomorrow when the league-leading Golds meet the second spot Douglas Tire eleven at Hampton Road at 2.30.

Golds at present hold a one-point edge over the tiremen who were held to a tie by Eagles last week.

In the other match Oak Bay, three points behind the leaders, meet Eagles at Windsor Park.

The standings could also undergo a shuffle in this match if Eagles upset the Oak Bay squad as the Aerie unit has totaled six points to date.

The Oak Bay team has been strengthened by the addition of the former Swiss star Paul Withum who may see action in the nets tomorrow. Injuries to key players have caused the switch pulling regular goalie Bob Sherratt out of the net. However, if the attack fails to function Withum will move to centre-forward and Sherratt will drop back of his regular position.

Ottawa Riders Remain Favorites For Tomorrow's Football Final

TORONTO (CP)—The big football game isn't until tomorrow afternoon but that gives the front offices time for their little game in the morning.

Officials of Calgary Stampers and Ottawa Roughriders kick off then before Canadian Rugby Union officials in a pre-game talk-fest designed to make sure official air is clear before the east-west classic.

Executives of both clubs have things on their chests.

The players arrive today, Stampers coming from their training camp at nearby Oakville and the Roughriders coming from the capital.

Manager Jim McCaffrey of Ottawa said he would raise again the question of a Calgary official working the game. Kent Phillips, president of the C.R.U., yesterday threw out Ottawa objections to use of Les Ferguson as judge of play. There are no Ottawa officials scheduled for the game.

Calgary is expected to raise the question of the number of players permitted to dress for the game. C.R.U. rules say 24, the Stampers want 30.

Coach Les Lear of Stampers told reporters this week there were two other things he wants settled at tonight's meeting. He wanted to make sure more than one ball was available in case the field was muddy. And he wanted Ottawa substitutes to stay on the bench, not on the sidelines during the game.

Although weather officials said an accurate forecast was impossible this far ahead of the game, indications are it will be dry—but cloudy.

OFFERS TICKET BONUS

The ticket scramble still continued today, although "no football tickets" signs have decorated agencies all week long. One desperate individual advertised in morning papers that he would buy three tickets—and throw in three rail seats for Saturday night's National Hockey League game as a bonus.

Bettors in Toronto this week were quoting 8 to 5 on the Roughriders. The price lengthened a bit in Ottawa where Defence Minister Brooke Claxton—an easterner—offered 2 to 1.

Riders left Ottawa last night, with 60-year-old Mayor Stanley Lewis, making his first public appearance since his illness several months ago, seeing them off. Some 300 fans went with the team.

"Every citizen is sure you're going to bring back the Grey Cup when you come home Sunday," Mayor Lewis told the team.

"I feel we can win the game," replied Coach Wally Masters.

Stampers went through a two-hour signal drill yesterday at their Oakville training camp. Lear steered away from predictions.

Fight Results

PHILADELPHIA—Gene Burton, 143½, New York, outpointed Herman McCray, 150, Philadelphia, 8.

OKLAHOMA CITY—Whitey Berlier, 185, New Orleans, outpointed Eddie Lamarr, 180, Oklahoma City, 10.

STOCKTON, Calif.—Bernard Doucens, 144, New Orleans, stopped Shamun McCray, 146, Cleveland, 7.

Leafs Break Jinx; Conacher Sets Mark

Toronto Maple Leafs broke a jinx and Chicago's Jim Conacher set a season's record in the National Hockey League last night.

Leafs blanked Montreal 2 to 0—their first win in the Montreal Forum since last December. Conacher scored four goals—an individual hit for the year—as the Black Hawks tumbled New York Rangers into the cellar, 6 to 4.

CBC Network To Air Grid Final

TORONTO (CP)—The biggest radio network ever to carry a Canadian football game will broadcast the Grey Cup clash between Calgary Stampers and Ottawa Roughriders Saturday. The broadcast will be carried by the Dominion network of the CBC beginning at 10.30 P.M.

Conacher Moves Up In Hockey Scoring

A sparkling four-goal effort by Jimmy Conacher of Chicago Thursday night boosted him into a fourth-place tie in the National Hockey League scoring race.

The Black Hawk winger now has 14 points and is deadlocked with Montreal's Joe Carveth, who went scoreless Thursday night as did all other leading marksmen. Grant Warwick still shows the way with 18 points.

Triple Attraction At Vic High Tonight

A change in tonight's program at Victoria High School will see the V.H.S. Drum Majorettes open the show at 8, and not the boxing bouts as previously announced. The feature basketball game, between this year's rep squad and last year's quintette is slated to get under way at 8.15.

Game should be an interesting battle and cage followers will be afforded another opportunity of seeing the strong Vic High squad of last year in action again.

The boxing bouts will both be staged at the half-time interval in the basketball game. Each bout will be three two-minute rounds in duration.

Tips On Golf Rules

By ROBERT FULVIS

Tip No. 57
LOST BALL. THE LONG FIVE MINUTES

A and B are playing in the Scottish amateur championship at Carnoustie in 1946. A hooks his drive into the Barry Burn at the 18th hole. He looks for his ball for quite a time before giving it up as lost. (The Barry Burn is a creek, so it is a water hazard.) Eventually he plays his 3rd shot from behind the Burn but fails to reach the green.

Now the unexpected happens. He plays one of his deadly run-up approaches and holes out in 4. This disconcerts B who is sitting pretty on the green in 2.

He takes three putts and loses the hole and the match. However B claims the hole and puts in a complaint to the Match Committee on the ground that A looked for his ball for more than five minutes. But the ruling of the match committee goes against him.

A ball need not be found in a water hazard, but if the ball had been lost, say, in long grass, the claim would have to be dismissed if the ball were given up as lost. If the player takes more than five minutes to find his ball, and then play it, he loses the hole. But who is to say when the five minutes has on brilliant solo plays and Metro Prystal and Bill Mosenko each collared one. For the Rangers it was Edgar Laprade, Don Raleigh, Alex Kaleta and Eddie Slowinski.

Chicago dropped behind in the first period but came back with a rush as Conacher took passes, first from Gaye Stewart and then from Gus Bodnar, to score twice.

The Montreal game blew up twice in the second period and each time play was stopped as officials struggled to break up a mass of fights scattered all across the ice.

The first came when Toronto's Gus Morton boarded Ken Mosdell and Maurice Richard went after Morton. Both Morton and Richard got majors.

Alpine Dairy To Play Here Dec. 11; Release Schedule

Alpine Dairy, which needs no introduction to Victoria basketball fans, will play a city senior A club at the High School gym Dec. 11, it was announced by league officials last night.

The Alpine visit will be the first intercity cage game of the season and will serve as a test of strength for local basketball.

Always a favorite here, Alpine Dairy is once more reported carrying a strong club. Ross Werner is coaching the dairymen and will bring over a number of well-known Seattle hoopers for the exhibition.

Local basketball schedule for the next two weeks follows:
Tomorrow—Intermediate A boys, Victoria College vs. Spencers; senior A men, Victoria College vs. Spencers; senior A men, Victoria College vs. Spencers.

Sailors Help Geography Lessons Through Ship Adoption Society

PORT ALBERNI — The British ship M.V. Stankeld, which is a member of the British Ship Adoption Society, whereby crew members write to a school under the program, providing a new method of teaching geography, sailed from Port Alberni for the United Kingdom this week.

Tom Clougher, New Zealand-born second mate, is official correspondent. On the last voyage he provided the school with two ship charts showing the voyage from England to B.C. He commented upon the products and peoples of the ports of call.

Thomas Smith, headmaster of the St. Patrick's School at Cardiff, Wales, states in a letter to Clougher: "This was one lesson in geography taught without tears."

The British Ship Adoption Society was formed in 1936. Holland and Denmark have since that time adopted the idea.

A close bond between ships and schools are fostered by the voluntary association, and a popular means of teaching geography is a by-product.

Police Building At Chemainus Sold

CHEMAINUS — Tender of $5,400 from James D. Gordon, for the purchase of the municipal police building at Chemainus, was accepted by North Cowichan council at a meeting here.

It was one of two bids received and acceptance of the offer is subject to ratification by the ratepayers at a plebiscite. The building which had fallen into disrepair was said to be inadequate for municipal needs. It was offered for sale after a decision to erect a combined police headquarters, court-room, jail and fire hall on a new site in Chemainus.

The meeting gave three readings to the Chemainus sewer extension by-law. The extension is to be carried out as a local improvement project at a cost of $28,000, payment to be spread over 15 years.

New Hotel Opens At Port Alberni

PORT ALBERNI — The King Edward Hotel $70,000 addition to the Port Alberni business section was officially opened when Mayor Loran Jordan and guests of the owners viewed the building Wednesday afternoon.

Traditional open house was held in the evening. The premises were crowded. The hotel has thirty modern rooms and is a structure with a glass brick, black vitrolight and white stucco facade on Argyle Street at First Avenue.

Storm Cost $35,000 At Cowichan Bay

DUNCAN — Stray logs were still being gathered in Cowichan Bay this week after last week's storm, which did damage estimated by some to reach $35,000. One resident said damage in the booming grounds alone had resulted in enough knocked down piles to keep a pile-driver and crew busy for two weeks at repair work at a cost of $1,000 a week.

Capt. Don Peck estimated his loss at $15,000, when his new wharf, completed in September was swept away and several boats lost and a water taxi, Zingaro, damaged.

T. A. Coulson, resident of Cowichan Bay for many years, whose 22-foot boat Hakai was smashed and one float damaged, estimated his loss at $1,200.

R.C.A.F. Band Gives Versatile Concert

The R.C.A.F. Northwest Air Command Band presented a colorful and versatile performance before a packed house of veterans at the Canadian Legion's Britannia Branch auditorium Thursday night.

Led by Warrant Officer Carl Friberg, the band played military numbers and popular music with equal skill. The rendition of "Swanee River" as it would be played on an air force camp, in the South Seas, in a cabin in the Ozarks, in Hollywood, in New York, in a Vancouver night club and finally by Stephen Foster himself, was a high point.

The concert was arranged by the R.C.A.F.'s Victoria and Vancouver Island recruiting unit, 315 Belmont Building, in conjunction with the current recruiting campaign.

Group Capt. Z. L. Leigh, O.B.E., V.D., officer commanding No. 12 Group, who was unable to attend the performance for the Ad Astra and Britannia branch members, sent transcribed greetings and a talk which was played before the program began.

Thursday afternoon the 30-piece band marched through the downtown area and played an hour-long concert on the Hudson's Bay Company's parking lot.

Oak Bay Liberals Return Officers By Acclamation

GEORGE W. BRIDGMAN

The Oak Bay Liberal Association has elected by acclamation George W. Bridgman as its president for 1949. The association's new vice-president will be C. C. Annett.

All officers of the association were elected by acclamation, there being only one nomination filed for each office when the deadline arrived.

H. H. Hollins will continue as secretary and P. A. Gibbs will continue as treasurer.

Mr. Bridgman succeeds W. S. Kirkpatrick who has served as president of the Oak Bay Liberal Association for three years. Previously Mr. Kirkpatrick had served four years as vice-president.

The association's annual meeting will be held in Liberal Headquarters, 1322-A Government Street, at 8:30 Monday night. At that time the association will elect its executive and will hear Education Minister W. T. Straith.

Alberta Premier Fears World Conflict If Changes Not Made

EDMONTON (CP) — Premier Manning said here Thursday night he foresaw a military conflict at a day not too far distant, unless the world's political, economic and financial ills were remedied.

He made the statement in closing the annual convention of the Alberta Social Credit League, which earlier had given him a vote of confidence after ousting rebel members from its ranks.

Two diametrically opposed ideologies which are irreconcilable and impossible to isolate geographically are fighting in the political field, he said. One is godless materialism in the form of Socialism, Communism and Collectivism, and the other is Christian democracy.

The exponents of godless materialism are fanatics who will do everything to spread their doctrine by infiltration. Because of this, one or the other ideology would prevail "in an inevitable conflict."

BOLSTERED AT PRESENT

Mr. Manning said the Marshall Plan for European recovery is artificially bolstering "the economics of Canada and the United States because goods are being sent to Europe, but the money return from their production remains on this side of the Atlantic."

He said to do this was simply extending into peacetime the effects of war-time economy, the difference being that Europe is saddled with a burden she never will be able to throw off.

Production in Canada and the United States was being "sabotaged at the expense of labor, by Communist infiltration into unions and by excessive taxation."

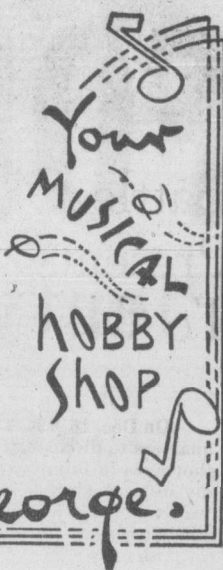

Katherine Rowe, secretary-treasurer of the City Hall Employees' Association, wrote a letter of appreciation to Ald. Duncan D. McTavish Thursday for a gift of pictures for the staff luncheon.

Battle Of The Bulge Presents Opportunity To Destroy Germans

Installment 20

On Dec. 16, 1944, General Bradley came to my headquarters to discuss ways and means of overcoming acute shortages in infantry replacements. Just as he entered my office a staff officer came in to report slight penetrations of our lines in the front of General Middleton's VIII Corps and the right of General Gerow's V Corps in the Ardennes region. The staff officer located the points on my battle map, and Bradley and I discussed the probable meaning.

I was immediately convinced that this was no local attack; it was not logical for the enemy to attempt merely a minor offensive in the Ardennes, unless of course it should be a feint to attract our attention while he launched a major effort elsewhere. This possibility was ruled out. On other portions of the front either we were so strong that the Germans could not hope to attack successfully, or there was a lack of major objectives that he could reasonably hope to attain.

It was through this same region that the Germans launched their great attack of 1940 which drove the British forces from the Continent, and France out of the war. That first attack was led by the same commander we were now facing, Von Rundstedt. It was possible that he hoped to repeat his successes of more than four years earlier. We had always been convinced that before the Germans acknowledged final defeat in the west they would attempt one desperate counter-offensive. It seemed likely to Bradley and me that they were now starting this kind of attack.

Armored Divisions Ordered To Close In

We called a number of the SHAEF staff into our conference room; among them were Air Chief Marshal Tedder, and Generals Smith, Bull, and Strong. The operational maps before us showed that on each flank of the Ardennes the bulk of a United States armored division was out on the front lines and could be moved quickly. On the north was the 7th Armored Division. In Patton's army on the south was the 10th Armored Division.

We agreed that these two divisions should immediately begin to close in toward the threatened area, the exact destination of each to be determined later by Bradley. This meant postponement of preparations for the attack in the Saar and we knew General Patton would protest. His heart was set on the new offensive, which he thought would gain great results.

But to Bradley and me there now appeared to be developing the very situation that we had felt justified in challenging because of the location of our concentrations on the flank of the weak Ardennes front. We had always felt the risk to be justified by the conviction that in emergency we could retreat swiftly. The critical moment, in our judgment, was now upon us. In addition to directing these preliminary moves Bradley alerted all army commanders in his group to be ready to provide additional units for the battle that he expected to develop.

We went over, again, the limit of the penetration that we could, if necessary, permit in that region without irre-

SO THE GERMANS WON'T GET ALLIES' OIL—Men of an armored infantry battalion clear away burned-out gasoline cans which they destroyed to avoid the fuel falling into enemy hands during the German offensive.

trievable damage to ourselves. This line covered the cities of Luxembourg and Sedan on the south, followed the Meuse River on the west, and covered Liege on the north. Farther back than this we would not go, and we would of course stop the enemy earlier if possible.

Grounded Air Force Causes Anxiety

One factor that caused us a special concern, even anxiety, was the weather. For some days our great air force had been grounded because of clouds and impenetrable fog. The air force was one of our greatest assets, and now, until the weather improved, it was practically useless. As long as the weather kept our planes on the ground it would be an ally of the enemy worth many additional divisions.

The morning of Dec. 17 it became clear that the German attack was in great strength. Two gaps were torn through our line, one on the front of the 106th Division, the other on the front of the 28th. Reports were confusing and exact information was meagre, but it was clear that the enemy was employing considerable armor and was progressing rapidly to the westward.

In two important points the enemy had gained definite surprise. The first of these was in timing. In view of the terrible defeats we had inflicted upon him during the late summer and fall, and of the extraordinary measures he had been compelled to undertake in raising new forces, we had believed that he could not be ready for a major assault as early as he was. The other point in which he surprised us was the strength of the attack.

In the north the critical region was near Monschau, an area over which Gerow's American V Corps of the First Army was attacking toward the Roer dams at the moment the German offensive began. In Gerow's corps the veteran 2nd Division and the new 99th Division were initially struck by the German attack.

The 99th was rapidly forced back in confusion. The 2nd Division met the issue with great skill and determination and during the ensuing three days fought one of the brilliant divisional actions of the war in Europe.

The Germans threw heavy attacks against the division but the Americans stubbornly refused to give way. It is doubtful, however, that the 2nd Division could have held out alone throughout the 36 hours before reinforcements reached its vicinity except for the courageous action of the 7th Armored Division at St. Vith. Its battle at St. Vith not only divided the German effort in the north but prevented quick encirclement of the Monschau position.

The great stand of the division had not only badly upset the timetable of the German spearheads: its gallant action had been most helpful to the 2nd Division at the vitally important Monschau shoulder until the 1st Division, and the 9th, came up to its support. Thereafter, with these three proved and battle-tested units holding the position, the safety of our northern shoulder was practically a certainty.

The German's advance, in spite of his failure at Monschau, was very rapid through the centre of the breakthrough. As the advance continued it gradually began swinging to the north and northwest, and it was evident that the enemy's objective lay in that direction. We believed that his first purpose would be the capture of Liege. We reasoned that even if he had the more ambitious objective of Antwerp he would have to depend partially upon supplies he might capture at Liege.

So we were particularly careful about Liege, where there were vast quantities of every kind of vital supplies, including fuel and food. However, we were determined that the enemy would be stopped short of that point, and in the outcome he never got close to Liege.

On the 17th Bradley ordered the VIII Airborne Corps from reserve to the front with Bastogne its original destination. General Middleton, then in Bastogne, saw the great importance of the spot and urged preparation to hold it. He conferred with Bradley by telephone, and although he stated that the place could soon be surrounded, recommended that it be held. It became necessary to divert the 82nd Airborne Division to the north toward Stavelot, so the 101st, with detachments of the VIII Corps, became the defenders of Bastogne.

Development were closely examined and analyzed all during Dec. 17 and 18. By the night of the 18th I felt we had sufficient information of the enemy's strength, intentions, and situation, and of our own capabilities, to lay down a specific plan for our counter-attack. On the early morning of Dec. 19, accompanied by Air Chief Marshal Tedder and a small group of staff officers,

I went to Verdun, where Generals Bradley, Patton, and Devers had been ordered to meet me.

Opportunity Ahead Not Disaster

As the conference started, with every one around a long table, I remarked: "The present situation is to be regarded as one of opportunity for us and not of disaster. There will be only cheerful faces at this conference table."

True to his impulsive nature, General Patton broke out with, "Hell, let's have the guts to let the . . . go all the way to Paris."

Then we'll really cut 'em off and chew 'em up." Every one, including Patton, smiled at this one, but I replied that the enemy would never be allowed to cross the Meuse.

It was arranged for Patton to concentrate his attacking corps of at least three divisions in the general vicinity of Arlon and from that point to begin the advance toward Bastogne. I personally cautioned him against piecemeal attack and gave directions that the advance was to be methodical and sure. Patton at first did not seem to comprehend the strength of the German assault and spoke so lightly of the task assigned him that I felt it necessary to impress upon him the need of strength and cohesion in his own advance.

The German attack had quickly gained the popular name of "Battle of the Bulge," because of the rapid initial progress made by the heavy assault against our weakly held lines, with a resulting penetration into our front that reached a maximum depth of some 50 miles.

Maximum Strain On All Hands In Field

This kind of battle places maximum strain upon an army in the field, from the highest general to the last private in the ranks. Its destructive moral effect falls most heavily, of course, upon the troop units that are struck by the attack. Confronted by overwhelming power, and unaware of the measure that their commanders have in mind for moving to their support, the soldiers in the front lines, suffering all the dangers and risks of actual contact, inevitably experience confusion, bewilderment, and discouragement.

In a different way, the pressure upon higher commanders is equally great. No matter how confident they may be of their ultimate ability to foil the enemy and even to turn the situation into a favorable one, there always exists the danger, when the enemy has the initiative of something going wrong.

The history of war is replete with instances where a sudden panic, an unexpected change of weather, or some other unforeseen circumstance has defeated the best-laid plans and brought reverse rather than victory. It would be idle and false to pretend that the Allied forces, in all echelons, did not suffer strain and worry throughout the first week of the Ardennes attack. It would be equally false to overemphasize the extent and the effect.

Early in the battle, on Dec. 22, I issued one of the few "Orders of the Day" I wrote during the war. In it I said:

By rushing out from his fixed defenses the enemy may give use the chance to turn his great gamble into his worst defeat. So I call upon every man, of all the Allies, to rise now to new heights of courage, of resolution and of effort. Let everyone hold before him a single thought—to destroy the enemy on the ground, in the air, everywhere—destroy him! United in this determination and with unshakable faith in the cause for which we fight, we will, with God's help, go forward to our greatest victory.

The Battle of the Bulge was, in the end, a victory for the Allied armies. General Eisenhower had forced the enemy to commit his last reserves to battle, instead of withdrawing them to prepared positions behind the Rhine. Before the battle was over, however, it had alarmed the Allied world. Field Marshal Montgomery had held a press conference which echoed back and forth across the Atlantic. The incident caused General Eisenhower "more distress and worry than did any similar one of the war."

These were the basic problems of Allied command. During the same days, General Eisenhower was forced to threaten General De Gaulle with a stoppage of all his military supplies unless he accepted the general strategic plan around Strasbourg. Both these incidents are reported for the first time in the next installment of "Crusade in Europe," which will be published in the Victoria Times tomorrow.

'13 Lead Soldiers' On Dominion Screen

Thirteen toy soldiers march Bulldog Drummond into the most desperate adventure of his career in "13 Lead Soldiers," the new Twentieth Century-Fox release opening today at the Dominion Theatre. The suave and celebrated detective toys with death and uncovers a thousand-year-old secret treasure in the new Bulldog Drummond thriller which presents Tom Conway in his second portrayal of the fabulous sleuth. Others in the outstanding cast of the Reliance picture include Maria Palmer, Helen Westcott, John Newland and Terry Kilburn.

PLAZA THEATRE

Whatever other advantages or disadvantages it may boast, India's complex caste system is not conducive to the production of motion pictures.

This discovery was made by the location unit which invaded India's treacherous Khyber Pass to film scenes for "Drums," Alexander Korda's Technicolor production, showing today at the Plaza Theatre, with Sabu, Raymond Massey, Roger Livesey, Desmond Tester and Valerie Hobson in featured roles.

OAK BAY THEATRE

With their appearance in Columbia's "The Guilt of Janet Ames," powerful love drama playing at the Oak Bay Theatre, Rosalind Russell and Melvyn Douglas are together for the first time since 1941, when they played in the same studio's "This Thing Called Love." Then it was a romantic comedy, but this time they are essaying a highly dramatic film.

Where To Go Tonight

YORK THEATRE

During the shooting "The Return of Wildfire," now showing at the York Theatre, an amusing problem presented itself.

The company had set up cameras on location and were about to begin shots. Suddenly the air was filled with small white particles. The scene to be filmed was intended to be a sunny morning. The sun was bright enough, but the snow flurries were not in the script.

To add to the confusion, the actors began sneezing. Origin of the snow was discovered to be a large heap of fuzzy white particles just around the corner of the building. Canvas was hurriedly placed over the heap and the entire crew took time out for coffee until the air cleared. It was learned that another company, shooting the previous day, had used "snow" in one scene and had neglected to dispose of it.

Warning Issued To Cut Down Total Of Holiday Accidents

More people are injured or killed in traffic accidents during the two-week holiday period each December than any other similar period during the year. Many homes will be saddened this year by the death or injury, in traffic, of a loved one unless greater care is taken by all who walk or drive.

A plea for a safe holiday period was made today by H. S. Hipwell, president, British Columbia Automobile Association. He said 23 people were killed in traffic accidents in British Columbia during December, 1947, and 581 injured. "Increased traffic congestion which reaches its peak in the business area; more hours of darkness during which traffic accidents multiply; increased night traffic and more drinking are important holiday accident causes," Mr. Hipwell said.

"Christmas time should be a period of good will toward others, and this should be manifest in our actions in traffic. Common courtesy must be everybody's watchword." Drivers and pedestrians alike, Mr. Hipwell suggested, can prevent accidents by practising the following sound traffic rules based on consideration for others:

Christmas rules for drivers are given as follows:
Give full attention to your driving — don't window-shop from your car.
Give pedestrians the right of way at intersections and when turning.

Drive at reduced speeds in business and residential sections.
If you drive, don't drink; and if you drink, don't drive.

Christmas rules for pedestrians follow:
Cross only at corners.
Obey all traffic signals.
Cross streets quickly and alertly.
Wear something white at night to help drivers see you.

ATLAS THEATRE

"Apartment for Peggy," the hilarious and heart-warming story of the determined efforts of the wife of a college student veteran to make a castle-in-the-air out of a dingy attic, is now at the Atlas Theatre. Photographed in color by Technicolor, the Twentieth Century-Fox hit stars Jeanne Crain, William Holden and Edmund Gwenn with Gene Lockhart, Griff Barnett and Randy Stuart heading the supporting cast.

The picture was directed by George Seaton and produced by William Perlberg. Seaton also wrote the screen play which was based on a novelette by Faith Baldwin.

ODEON THEATRE

The best way to be a screen star is to be a sports star, according to Jane Randolph who should be something of an authority on the subject. All during grammar school at Canton, Ohio, high school at Kokomo, Indiana, and DePauw University at Greencastle, Indiana, Jane tried to participate in school plays but failed because of stagefright.

Now, in one of the top roles of Universal International's "Abbott & Costello Meet Frankenstein," currently at the Odeon Theatre, she has overcome her fear of audiences to become one of Hollywood's most on-the-way actresses.

CAPITOL THEATRE

Jane Powell is stealing Clark Gable's stuff. One of Hollywood's expert knitters, Jane borrowed Gable's famous turtleneck sweater from the M-G-M wardrobe department to copy. When she wore the finished sweater in the studio commissary, it caused such a sensation that designer Helen Rose had another made for Jane to wear in the new Technicolor musical, "A Date With Judy," now showing at the Capitol Theatre.

ROYAL THEATRE

"Forever Amber," Twentieth Century-Fox's spectacular Technicolor film version of the best-seller, which will be shown for the first time at regular prices today at the Royal Theatre, represents one of the most painstaking research and preparation tasks ever undertaken by Hollywood. The film starring Linda Darnell, Cornet Wilde, Richard Greene and George Sanders was over two years in the making, and catches all of the spectacle and excitement of 17th-Century London.

To Get Toys From Canadian Soldiers

Eighty-two cases of toys made by Canadian soldiers in army hobby shops in camps across the country are on their way overseas to brighten Christmas for more than 3,000 underprivileged British youngsters who might not otherwise be remembered.

Members of the army started making toys in off-duty hours three years ago at the suggestion of the Children's Friendship and Gift Association, a welfare organization.

Last year they shipped 73 cases containing more than 2,500 toys. The toys are shipped to Mrs. J. R. Eden, honorary director of the Children's World Community Chest, and to the Children's Friendship and Gift Association for distribution at Christmas to needy children in England, Scotland, Wales and Northern Ireland.

All expenses connected with the shipment of the toys overseas are being paid by the Canadian Red Cross.

Many of the toys were made in hobby shops in isolated camps where soldiers welcome the chance to brighten off-duty hours by fashioning dolls or toy trucks. Some originated at such out of the way places as Fort Churchill and army maintenance camps along the northwest highway system.

100 Flee Fire

VANCOUVER (CP) — A hundred tenants fled to safety Thursday when fire threatened Strathmore Lodge, a 100-suite apartment in downtown Vancouver.

Ralph Lighthouse, owner, and a tenant fought the flames in a four-story suite until arrival of firemen. Damage was estimated at $8,000.

Many tenants, including women and children, fled down fire escapes to the street as Lighthouse knocked down a door and battled the flames with a hand extinguisher.

In 1927 eight persons died in Strathmore Lodge in one of Vancouver's worst fires.

A fine of $40 and a one-month license suspension was handed George S. Hutchison by Magistrate H. C. Hall in Saanich police court Thursday afternoon when he was convicted for dangerous driving. Charge arose when his car collided with a telephone pole on Gorge Road near Harriet Road on Oct. 31, sending him and his wife to hospital.

Child Experts Cannot Agree If Comics Are Good Or Bad

Psychologists, teachers, judges and parents who are in favor of comic books argue:

"Comic books provide a healthy outlet for the youngsters' pent-up emotions."

"Comic books play no part in turning an innocent child into a juvenile delinquent."

"Comic books improve your child's vocabulary, expand his field of knowledge and create a desire for reading good books."

Salmon Season Ends With Cannery Output At 1,313,909 Cases

British Columbia salmon canneries during the 1948 season produced 1,313,909 48-pound cases of salmon, the chief supervisor of fisheries reported today in the final weekly bulletin on canned salmon production for the season.

This year's pack compares with 1,504,714 cases for 1947 and 1,348,138 cases for 1946. Although short of the production for these years, this year's pack compares favorably with the 1,097,557 cases produced during 1944—the corresponding cycle year.

More chums were packed this year than any other species. Total output was 496,928 cases. This compared with 460,999 cases for the 1947 season. The coho pack was up to 193,587 cases this year from 140,484 cases last year.

The sockeye pack was down from 286,285 cases last year to 260,050 cases this year, and the pinks pack was down from 599,212 cases last year to 321,514 cases this year.

Canadians Better Off Says Premier

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister St. Laurent said Thursday night he believes few Canadians "will not admit" they are "much better off than they were before the war."

"It is a matter of record that since the war period in 1945 there have been more people employed in Canada than ever before in peacetime," said Mr. St. Laurent in a speech delivered on free time provided by the CBC for political broadcasting. "It is true prices have gone up a good deal, but so have wages and salaries. I am sure there are very few who, if they are honest with themselves, will not admit that most Canadians are much better off than they were before the war."

"I am not going to claim for a moment that we wouldn't have had a fair measure of prosperity in Canada, a good deal of employment and a reasonably high national income, even if there hadn't been a Liberal government at Ottawa. What I do say is that the policies of the Liberal government have contributed substantially to the fortunate position in which most Canadians find themselves today."

Eric Harwood, who told the court he was a Manitoba resident, was fined $40 and his license was suspended for one month by Magistrate H. C. Hall in Saanich police court Thursday by Magistrate H. C. Hall. He was in an accident at Cedar Hill Crossroad and Shelbourne Street recently.

Need Of Playgrounds, Growth Of School Population Discussed

LANGFORD—Need of larger playgrounds, transportation problems and the growth of school population from 750 to 900 in a year, were discussed at a meeting of ratepayers held in Langford School.

Trustees of Sooke School District No. 62, E. H. Emery, B. H. Swindell, Mrs. A. Turner, George Duncan and J. M. Elliott gave their annual reports. R. E. Lawrence presided with Trustee Emery, chairman of the school board and Patrick G. Strachan, secretary-treasurer of the board, answering questions raised by taxpayers.

Mrs. Turner referred to the increase in school population and the increase in staff from 28 in 1947 to 35. Sixteen new classrooms were added in two and a half years, she said. Three classrooms are in the final stage of completion and work has commenced on two more.

A report on Sooke School District health committee was given by Mrs. H. A. Hincks and showed 2,202 persons had visited the X-ray chest clinic at Belmont High School. She spoke of the blood donor clinic and films shown on cancer, problem children and tuberculosis. Mrs. Hincks tendered her resignation from the committee and Mrs. A. E. Morbey was elected in her place.

Dr. Elizabeth Mackay, medical health officer and Henderson Watt, sanitary inspector, also spoke.

World Government Trend Proceeding At Rapid Pace

There is an unmistakable trend towards a one-world concept of government according to Maj. J. P. Simon, secretary of the Victoria branch of the Canadian Institute of International Affairs.

Speaking before the Rotary Club Thursday, Maj. Simon, expressing his personal views and not those of the institute, said the trend was proceeding at the pace of revolution, not evolution.

He pointed out that world government would be achieved either through co-operation or a "knockout blow" but there was no definite indication which at the present time.

World domination by any single power, no matter whether it be a democratic nation or not, would lead to the extinction of freedom of thought, Maj. Simon said.

He outlined the work of the Canadian Institute of International Affairs, telling how its encouragement to members to discuss world affairs helped bring about a better understanding of international problems. The speaker praised the Rotary objective of international friendship as a useful aid in the efforts for permanent world peace.

Tide Tables Change In 1949 Edition

T. E. Morrison, acting agent for the Department of Transport, has advised mariners of a number of changes made in the 1949 edition of Tide Tables, Pacific Coast.

At Victoria the datum has been lowered 0.6 feet, and a zero tide in the 1948 tables equals an 0.6-foot tide in the 1949 tables.

The charts of Victoria, Strait of Georgia and Burrard Inlet all show soundings which are reduced to the datums formerly in use.

A correction must thus be applied to the heights given in the 1949 tables to conform with the datum of soundings on the charts of the locality.

A note showing the amount of this correction appears at the foot of each page of the Tide Tables which is affected. In due course, the charts affected will be revised on the basis of the new low water datums.

A fine of $40 was imposed against Edwin C. Jones by Magistrate H. C. Hall in city police court today when he pleaded guilty to a charge of dangerous driving. After hearing accused's plea for no license suspension, the magistrate did not suspend it. He was involved in an accident on Nov. 1.

Increase Sought In Allowance For 'Burned-Out' Vets

An increase in the "burned-out" veterans' allowance and its extension to include Imperial veterans who have resided in Canada for 20 years and Canadians who served in England, but not France, in the First World War is being sought by the Canadian Legion.

Peter Barr, B.C. representative to the Dominion command of the ex-servicemen's organization, told this to the Victoria and District Zone Council Thursday night in a talk describing highlights of his recent trip to an executive meeting in Ottawa.

The request for the pensioners' increase and inclusion of two new groups was one of two major points in a brief presented to the Dominion cabinet by Col. Lionel Baxter, Winnipeg. Mr. Barr said he was honored by being the last "outsider" to address the cabinet headed by W. L. Mackenzie King prior to his retirement.

SECOND POINT

Second major point in the brief was a request that an immediate increase in Wartime Housing units and more permanent homes for veterans be built.

Reduction of minimum acreage requirement under the Veterans' Land Act from two acres to one-half acre was urged, Mr. Barr stated.

Turning to the proposed establishment of an auxiliary air force squadron in Victoria, the speaker said that the reason for non-support of the movement by the government was the lack of a substantial volunteer ground crew.

Sooke Hills Snow Not For Victoria

Citizens who dutifully did without electric heaters in homes and offices today can dispel any fears resulting from the sight this morning of a light blanket of snow on Sooke Hills.

The biting southwest winds, reaching 44 miles per hour in gusts this morning at the Dominion Observatory on Gonzales Hill, caused most of the chilly discomfort. The late-morning temperatures on Gonzales Hill read 40 degrees.

Milder weather, light winds and light rains are forecast for Saturday, with the decrease in wind velocity predicted to begin tonight.

Forecast low temperature for tonight is 35 degrees, the same as was recorded at the observatory last night. The "on the grass" reading last night, taken at ground level, gave a low of 32 degrees.

Seek Information On B.C. War Dead

In an effort to make the honor roll which is to grace the foyer of the University of British Columbia's proposed War Memorial Gymnasium, as complete as possible, student officials of the Memorial Gymnasium committee have issued an appeal to the public for information regarding British Columbians who died in either world wars.

Efforts through official channels have not resulted in a complete list, the committee states.

The public is asked to send in the name, date of death, and service number, if possible, of any person who was born in British Columbia or made his home here and who died while serving with: 1. The Canadian Merchant Marine in either war. 2. The Imperial forces in the Second World War only. 3. The United States forces in either war. 4. The forces of any other Allied power in either war.

The information should be sent to the honor roll committee, Brock Hall, University of British Columbia, Vancouver.

Says U.S. Cities Can't Beat Victoria

Victoria stands out as "the loveliest and nicest place in which to live" in a comparison with cities of the United States by a local man traveling the 48 states.

H. Ruddick wrote from Memphis, Tenn., to Mayor Percy George today, to express his sentiments of appreciation for "the old home town."

"We hear people complain about Victoria, and sometimes agree with them, and only by traveling can we find our mistake," he writes.

"I have covered every state and large city in the U.S. on a trip I am now making and I wish to say you can't beat Victoria."

WHERE WORKMAN TRAPPED—In this 10-foot deep hole, Sidney Tyler, 904 Caledonia Avenue, was trapped up to his chest in wet clay and mud Thursday afternoon for half an hour before being freed by police and fellow-workmen. The city employee, digging a ditch to carry sewage pipes to a Central Mortgage and Housing project near the intersection of Doncaster and Edgeware roads, was little the worse for his experience. The clay cascaded down trapping him when the left wall of the excavation gave way. Bowker Creek flows parallel to Doncaster Road at a point 15 feet from the above ditch.

Accidental Death In Motorcycle-Truck Crash At Sidney

A verdict of accidental death from injuries received when the motorcycle he was riding met a truck head on at Beacon Avenue, Sidney, Monday evening, was returned by a coroner's jury today investigating the death of Gordon John Payne, 17, student at Victoria College.

Young Payne died instantly, according to testimony of Dr. G. H. Hoeft of Sidney, who was called to the scene of the accident. The inquest was held at Chaplin's Funeral Home.

Charles Burrows, driver of the truck, was visibly moved as he gave evidence under protection of the Canada Evidence Act.

"I was passing a car when the motorcycle appeared," Mr. Burrows told Dr. E. C. Hart, coroner. "He seemed to be following the centre of the road. I swerved to miss him and apparently he swerved the same way."

All witnesses at the scene said the motorcycle did not have its light on. Mr. Burrows testified he was traveling between 30 and 35 miles an hour, and that when he pulled out on Beacon Avenue to pass a car, there was nothing in view.

Mrs. Mildred Roberts, who was driving the car the truck was passing, stated the lights of her car and those of the truck were on, but not the light on the motorcycle. It was dark at the time the accident took place, she said. Robert McLellan, Frank Speirs and Constable Joseph Gibault, in charge of the Sidney detachment of Provincial Police, and Frank C. Adams, with whom the deceased made his home, also gave evidence.

Dr. Hart told the jury the motorcycle should have had its lights on.

Austin Seeks Seat Saanich Police Board

A 10-year veteran of the Saanich Council, George Austin, retired dairy farmer who lives on Vantage Lane, announced today that his nomination papers have gone in to seek the lone position open on the Saanich Police Commission in the Dec. 18 elections.

Commissioner Fred Marconi, elected earlier this year to finish out the term of Stanley Scurrah, reported this week he would not seek re-election.

A resident of Saanich for 35 years, Mr. Austin was born in Oxfordshire, England, and came to Canada in 1910.

He was a member of Saanich Council consecutively from 1937 to 1946, is a director of the Uplands Golf Club and is chairman of the finance committee on the Greater Victoria Cemetery Board.

Woman Fined $75
Miss D. W. Atkins of Norfolk House School, Richmond Avenue, pleaded guilty to a charge of not having a current trades license to operate the private school, and was assessed $75 and $2.50 costs in city police court this morning.

Given Jail Term, Must Pay For Shattered Window

A 12-day jail sentence was imposed against Murray Boggs, a young Victoria man, as punishment for throwing a beer bottle which shattered a $140, 10x8-foot window in the Standard Furniture Co. Yates Street entrance last week-end. He appeared for sentence before Magistrate H. C. Hall in city police court today.

Charge against Roy B. Everston, who was with accused when the window-breaking episode took place, was dismissed by the magistrate when Boggs, in the witness box, said he was the one who threw the bottle. Everston pleaded not guilty and Magistrate Hall said he was not at all satisfied with the story he told in the stand.

Boggs told the magistrate he finished the bottle of beer and discarded it. He heard the crash of glass which followed, declared the act was not one of wilful damage as charged. They left the scene, but an eye-witness pointed them out to police.

Boggs' sentence, the court ordered was to start from day of arrest, Nov. 20, which gives him six days to serve. In addition if he does not pay the $140 damage, accused will serve an additional 15 days, the magistrate ordered.

Jack Rutnan appeared as counsel.

Mrs. Taylor Again Heads Ward 3 Conservatives

Mrs. J. Taylor has been re-elected president of the Ward Three Progressive Conservative Association at an annual meeting held at the home of Mrs. George Miles, 1340 Stanley Avenue.

Along with Mrs. Taylor all other officers were returned. They are Mrs. M. Spence, vice-president; Mrs. George Miles, secretary-treasurer; William Duck, George Henderson and A. Ward, to the central executive.

More than 50 attended the meeting and heard Percy Payne speak. Mr. Payne stressed the need for organization.

Business Activity To Continue High Level In 1949, Says Report

The B.C. Bureau of Economics and Statistics, in a monthly review, today said the prospects for a continued high level of business activity in British Columbia would seem to be very favorable for the remainder of 1948 and early 1949.

"Practically all of the important business indicators reach new peaks and showed that British Columbia's economy was running at a new all time high," said the review.

For August, the latest month for which statistics were available, the employment index had reached an all-time high of 212.0 compared with 204.2 in August of last year. The bureau reported reasonable activity was high in the logging, pulp and paper industries and construction industries.

EMPLOYMENT PROSPECTS FAVORABLE

"With unemployment at very low levels employment prospects are favorable—with the exception of Vancouver—and forecasts for the remainder of 1948 and early 1949 indicate that a high level of employment will prevail," said the report.

The bureau reported that all production indexes showed fairly moderate increases over the first eight months of last year. Production of gold was running well ahead of last year although it may tend to fall off in later months of 1948 because of the closing of some mines due primarily to high labor costs. Timber scaled for the first eight months of 1948 was ahead of the similar period for 1947.

The value of seafish landed up to August was 25.3 per cent ahead of the previous year, the bureau reported.

CONSUMPTION HIGHER

The bureau added that consumption indexes all indicated higher levels in 1948 than 1947, but exports and imports through B.C. customs ports were down from all-time highs established in 1947.

While the retail index reached a new high of 158.9 in September, the wholesale index at 157.8 in August, was still below the all-time high of 164.3 established in May, 1920.

Ignore Appeal On Electricity Use

Evidence that one Oak Bay resident was not co-operating in the B.C. Electric Co. appeal for persons to "go easy" on use of electricity until full service can be restored, was discovered by municipal firemen at 1.19 this morning. Firemen found that the woman responsible had left the electric stove running for the night and that grease fired the elements of the range. Damage to the stove was about $50.

First Concert Tonight

GREAT WAR VETERAN DIES
—Funeral services for George Schofield, 78, late of 635 Hillside, who collapsed and died on the street, will be held from Thompson Funeral Home Saturday afternoon at 2.30, with Rev. James Hood officiating. Interment will be in the family plot at Colwood Burial Park. Mr. Schofield, who resided in Victoria for 36 years, was a veteran of the Great War, having served with the 88th Battalion.

Light Of The Spirit Needed, Speaker Tells Shantymen

Need for "the light of the spirit in these dark days" was stressed by Dr. N. A. Jepson, Seattle member of the Christian Businessmen's Association, in an address to the annual meeting of the Shantymen's Christian Association in the Salvation Army Citadel, Thursday night. More than 200 people filled the hall to capacity.

Dr. Jepson told the gathering of the efforts needed to spread the gospel on the home mission front.

Reports on the year's activities were given by the association officers. Cmdr. E. R. S. Dickinson, Shantymen's president, gave the financial report; J. Spratt discussed work through the mail and J. Coleman read a report on the periodical, the "Shantymen."

Percy Wills showed color films of the British Columbia coastal missionary fields.

Rezoning Requested

Rezoning of property at the southeast corner of Pandora Avenue and Camosun Street from single-family dwelling classification to commercial, was requested of the city today by E. N. Bagshawe and Laura B. Collings.

They claim the property is unsuitable for residential purposes, and being located on an arterial road, would be ideal for establishment of any small business.

PASSES IN CALIFORNIA
Word has been received of the sudden death Thursday in Hollywood, Calif., of Mrs. Priscilla A. Cantwell, who came to Canada from England in 1907 and lived in Saanich and Victoria for many years before moving to California 20 years ago.

Berlin Tries Smuggling By-Product Of Gasoline To Beat Blockade

Cans of propagas, resembling milk cans, are sold openly in the western sector from the trucks which bring them from Russian zone. Each can contains 30 cubic metres of the fuel.

City allotment of gas is only 13 cubic metres a month for a family of three, so the smuggled gas comes in handy. This milk-can container will keep the lamp lit for 200 hours.

Small businesses use the smuggled gas to keep going despite the blockade. In this shop, the container of propagas is used by the men and women to keep their hat-blocking equipment hot.

Berlin Ruins, Tension In Air Bad But Old Woman Picking Up Twig Really Gets You

Peter Inglis, who began his newspaper career on the Victoria Times, is now visiting Continental Europe in the interests of the Southam newspapers. He is writing articles on conditions there and these will appear in the Victoria Times through the courtesy of the Vancouver Daily Province. This is his first story.

By PETER INGLIS

BERLIN—The ruins of Berlin you can take with a certain equanimity if you've seen Coventry or Portsmouth or the city of London. The tension in the air you can stand, for a time. But what gets you is the sight of an old woman pulling a tiny wooden cart down the street stopping every few yards to pick up a small twig.

The western sectors of Berlin are full of such old women, and of girls in head scarves and bobby-socks (which seem to be the universal feminine fashion here) sawing up fallen branches and of men reaching up surreptitiously with walking sticks to pull down bits of deadwood from trees.

TO BE BETTER FED

The western sectors are going to be better fed this winter than last, in spite of the Soviet blockade, but they're going to be colder and there will be people out of work.

Gen. Lucius Clay, talking to newspaper men in the magnificent room which used to be Reichsmarshal Hermann Goering's office in the civil air defence headquarters and is now the conference hall of the office of the military governor, is quite frank about this:

"The diet of Berliners, he says, is better now than before the blockade started, although it is less palatable (the Germans don't like dehydrated potatoes, which are a staple of the airlift). Their main suffering this winter will be from the lack of coal—both through cold and through unemployment.

The loss of industrial coal has already, according to Gen. Clay, put 90,000 in the western sectors out of work and many others are on a 20-hour week. (Burgomaster Ernst Reuter, the mayor of Berlin, with whom I talked at Tempelhof airfield as I was leaving the city, disputes these figures. He says only 45,000 are outright unemployed and as many more working short hours.)

But, says the military governor, "the determination of Berliners to endure necessary hardships is very real."

This appears to be true. In the western sectors of Berlin, you do not see the bitter glowering glances directed at yourself, as one of the conquerors, which you find in Wiesbaden, Frankfurt and the other cities of the western zones of Germany where life is a lot less rugged than here.

Western Berliners can also see close-up how things are in Russian Germany. The printed ration list is fuller in the Soviet sector of Berlin—but, Germans tell you, half the things on the list are unavailable.

CHIMNEYS SMOKING

There is also the undeniable fact that western counter-blockade, by cutting off power, steel and spare parts, is making its effects felt in Russian-controlled territory—although the busily produced something approaching sympathy for the Western Powers. But the sympathy is of a negative sort—it is anti-Russian rather than pro-Western.

The Germans have no sense of war-guilt and bitterly resent being occupied by anybody (several of them have told me privately that if the occupation ended today, within two years the unending and almost-unbroken rubble of Berlin would be cleared away and the city would be back somewhere near normal—and I'm inclined to believe them.) But their hatred and fear of the Russians makes the Westerners seem almost benevolent.

This fact is underlined to you in every conversation you have with a Berliner: He always comes up with a sentence or a joke, often delivered in a smiling, rather ingratiating manner, which is obviously intended to further the good cause of dividing the eastern and western occupying powers still more. (A current favorite begins "Once upon a time, an Englishman, a Frenchman, an American and a Russian went into the skunk house in the zoo..." and follows the same pattern as all the variants of that same story which have been told since time immemorial in every country on earth.)

This sympathy for the western occupying powers may also contain some elements of good practical economics.

That whisper hurt me more than a shout!

1. "TRUTH HURTS! I could hardly believe my ears. But it was true! As I passed by Helen and Grace, I distinctly heard them whisper... 'B.O.' Only a whisper—but it hurt me worse than a shout."

2. "I'D ALWAYS thought 'B.O.' was something that happened to others. But now the others were shunning me."

3. "THAT'S WHEN I decided to use Lifebuoy daily. And does that gentle soap work! 'B.O.' hasn't got a chance with Lifebuoy."

4. "NOW I'M GLAD I heard that whisper. It's easier for me to get along with people ever since I started using Lifebuoy."

ITS FRESH, CLEAN SCENT IS YOUR GUARANTEE OF PROTECTION

Lifebuoy's clean scent is your guarantee of protection. It's a signal that Lifebuoy's thick, mild lather is giving you all-over freshness. In a few seconds the Lifebuoy scent has disappeared and so has every trace of "B.O." (body odor). Lifebuoy is the only soap specially made to stop "B.O."

Tests prove you can build up resistance against "B.O." by bathing with Lifebuoy every day. Try it for just seven days. See how fresh and clean your skin feels! Once you've discovered how Lifebuoy frees you from "B.O.", gives you longer-lasting protection, you won't ever miss your "Bath a day the Lifebuoy way!"

London City's Churches Still Bear Scars Of Enemy Air Raids

LONDON (CP)—"Kilroy was here"—and so were German bombers the night of Dec. 29, 1940, smashing the life out of historic St. Giles, Cripplegate.

The walls of the fine Norman church, built around 1090, A.D., where Oliver Cromwell was married and John Milton was buried, now stand as a monument to the destruction of total war; and its grey stones bear countless chalk-scribbled vulgarities of revellers who have since passed by.

Twenty of the City of London's 47 parish churches were "seriously damaged by enemy action" in the recent war. Of these, St. Giles presents perhaps the greatest scene of desolation.

ACRES NOT REBUILT

Near what once was the north wall of the ancient city are acres of unbuilt bomb sites. The thud of urchins' footballs is heard against the distant rumble of traffic in Ludgate Hill and the Holborn viaduct.

Amid this ugliness stands St. Giles. Broken stones litter its tiny forecourt. Filthy garbage is scattered along a little alley behind its southwest wall. Broken glass saints peer sightlessly from its windows inwards into the gutted shell of the church and out into the gloom of a London November.

Other City churches are in like plight. St. Mildred, Bread Street; St. Alban, Wood Street; Christ Church, Greyfriars; St. Stephen, Coleman Street are all deserted.

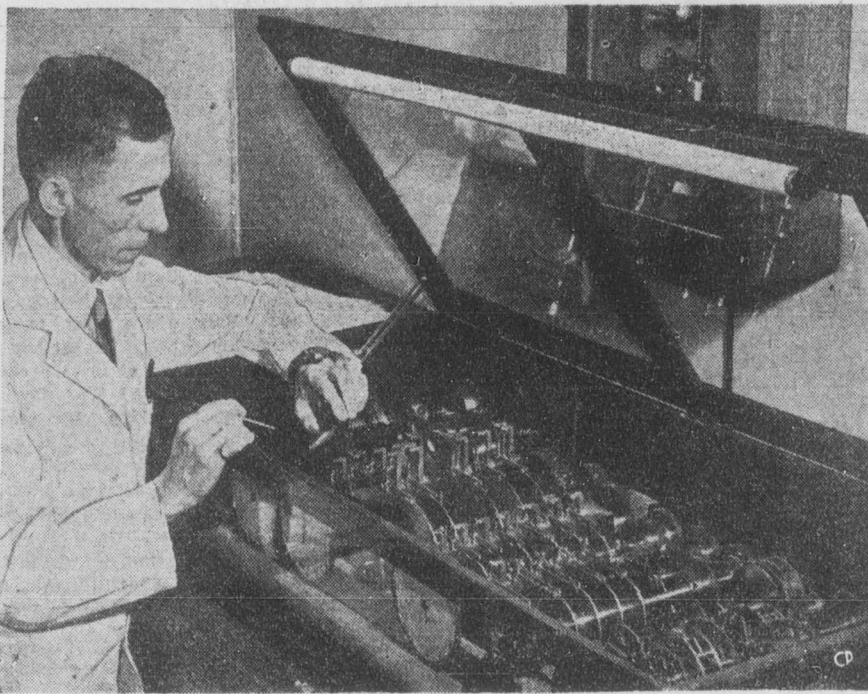

Some are fighting back. St. Andrew-by-the-Wardrobe, for instance, although a Bishop of London's commission has recommended that its site be sold, is appealing for funds to rebuild and already is some way toward the £15,000 ($60,000) necessary.

SERVICES IN ST. BRIDE

Services still are carried on in unruined parts of St. Bride, Fleet Street; St. Dunstan-in-the-East; St. Lawrence Jewry and St. Michael Royal.

It is expected at least 10 or 20 years will elapse before any of the badly-damaged churches are rebuilt; but meantime most of them have incorporated their parochial life with that of a neighboring church more fortunate in the bombing.

Keeping Canada On Time

Canada's most accurate clock is buried deep in a vault on a bit of wooded farmland near Ottawa, without face, hands or mainspring. A mass of wheels, kept dustproof under a glass case, form the master clock at the Dominion Observatory. From it flows an endless stream of second, minute and hour signals to start trains on time and generally keep Canada up to the minute. Shown here is D. E. (Ted) Hollinsworth, electrical engineer, checking the delicate equipment.

Keeping Canada on time is the job of W. S. McClenahan, chief of Time Service. No bells ring to indicate the hours but a delicate electrical instrument known as the master clock sends out electrical impulses. The accuracy of the clock is judged by the stars and Mr. McClenahan is shown here checking them to calculate true time to within 1/100th of a second. (CP Photo.)

Shorter Session Of Legislature Forecast For Quebec In January

QUEBEC (CP)—A tiny opposition force will find itself with government members in front, on either side and breathing down its neck when the Quebec Legislative Assembly meets in January in its old green chamber. The preponderance of government members may make up for an unusually short session.

But, say old-timers, the seating arrangements are 20th century style for a Quebec House which, since 1900, has scarcely ever had all government representatives on the Speaker's right where they're supposed to sit.

The strong governments Quebec elects have overflowed from their side to the wooden benches on the left for nearly 50 years.

When the first session of the 23rd Legislature meets Jan. 19, George C. Marler, 47-year-old Montreal notary representing Westmount-St. George's division and just picked as Liberal House chief, will have only seven party supporters at his side.

Last July 28, Premier Duplessis' Union Nationale Party won 82 of the 92 Legislative Assembly seats, one of which is the throne occupied by the Speaker. Independents took two and only eight were left for the Liberals.

CONTRAST WITH ONTARIO

The premier is all for a snappy session. He has often reminded Legislature members that the big province of Ontario makes its laws in five or six weeks while Quebec sessions have always gone on and on.

There were several rows about it during the last session, which lasted 12 weeks though members worked in the morning in committee and sat in the House afternoons and evenings until 11 and 11.30 p.m.

The government blamed 33 Liberals for prolonging the session from January past Easter. The Liberals said the opposition's job was to talk.

Since Liberal numbers have been cut down to about one-fourth of their 1948 session size, it would seem their talking power may be cut proportionately.

Pamphlet Reveals Why Prices, Wages Checked In New Zealand

AUCKLAND, N.Z. (CP)—Wages in New Zealand today are much lower than in North America, but so are the prices of many commodities. New Zealand had a high wage level before the war, but the rise has not been as great as in very many countries since. This has been counter-balanced by checks on price rises.

The policy of keeping both wages and prices in check is defended by W. Nash, minister of finance, in a pamphlet on New Zealand's action in bringing her currency to parity with sterling. The pamphlet was issued by the Labor Party.

Nash claims that the change, which raised the exchange rate from $3.20 to $4.05 to the New Zealand pound, has met with almost universal approval.

ALTERNATIVE COURSES

"One of two courses confronted the government," he says. "Either we had to demand considerably higher prices for our exports, thus increasing our stocks of sterling and maintaining the volume of exports or we had to depreciate the value of the New Zealand pound to reduce the cost of imported articles."

Dealing with the first alternative he says Britain's tremendous sacrifices in war have left her in economic difficulties and the present New Zealand government is not going to take advantage of her in time of trouble.

"But that is not the whole story," says Nash. "If the farmers and exporters are to be allowed to grasp the highest prices which the market will bear, what about the manufacturers, and more important still, what about the workers? The workers, too, are in a strong position today—there is a seller's market for labor. If the exporters want to go the limit, what is to stop the workers demanding the limit?"

CAN UNDERSSELL

"With an effectively controlled economy, New Zealand can today, if necessary, undersell every other nation trading in many of our products," Nash declares. "When the world returns to normal, which of the exporting nations will be in the strongest position—those who have let costs of production rise sky-high and who have taken all the market can bear, or those who have kept costs in check and have kept their essential industries on a sound and stable basis?"

Nash says it is true that some importers and exporters have been affected by the alteration in the exchange, but statistics show business men in general are very prosperous. The general reduction in costs and prices will benefit everyone and the period of adjustment is likely to be short. Many prices have fallen already. Only farmers who have been without the protection of guaranteed prices will notice the change. These are chiefly wool producers and exporters of hides and seeds.

Detectives To War On Pseudo Sleuths

LONDON (CP)—The British Detectives' Association wants government help to put out of business many pseudo investigators who have set themselves up as "private detectives."

The association, representing many established detective agencies, is seeking legal status for its members. R. A. Aston, honorary secretary of a London inquiry agency, said there is nothing to stop would-be blackmailers from calling themselves private detectives.

"The only qualification a man now needs to set himself up as a private detective is enough money to rent a room as an office, with a few shillings left over for a name-plate," he said.

Ferryboat Rules Waves In New York Harbor

Waterfront strike panorama: In the background, Manhattan's skyline; in the foreground, carloads of goods for export; in the middle, the Hudson River, empty of ships except for a lone tugboat at extreme left.

NEW YORK—Capt. Edward McGrath, master of the ferryboat New Brunswick, conned his ship across the Hudson River from New Jersey to Manhattan with the nonchalance of a boy sailing a boat in a bathtub.

"Isn't this a Roman holiday?" he exclaimed.

The river path was virtually his own. No deep-laden freight-ers nor haughty liners shoved their bows across his shuttle route. In the world's biggest port, only the New Brunswick and other ferryboats, plus a much-reduced fleet of car floats, lighters and tugs ruffled the waters of New York harbor.

On the river and along the 650 miles of waterfront that edge the harbor, paralysis had set in with the longshoremen's strike.

The paralysis spread to 31 anchored ships—an unusually large number—visible in the haze downstream. It spread to the piers along the East River, the Hudson, Brooklyn, and across to Staten Island and Jersey, where only the watchmen were stirring.

It spread to waterfront side streets, usually a tangle of forwarders' trucks, and to the labyrinth of export railroad yards, where the carloads of machinery, automobiles, and E.C.A. goods stood idle.

In terms of money, it was a paralysis of $25,500,000 a day in exports and imports, the New York Board of Trade estimated.

In terms of ships, it affected sailings that total about 860 vessels a month, 580 of them bound for foreign ports, and the activity of 5,000 harbor craft.

In terms of cargoes, it affected mahogany logs from West Africa, rubber from India, cognac, perfume, cocoa, jute, spices—a never-ending tonnage of raw materials from the ports of the world, and a never-ending tonnage of motors for Amsterdam, machine tools for Bombay, crude oil for Scandinavia—$15,500,000 a day in U.S. exports.

In terms of people, it affected, besides the striking longshoremen, "one out of every 10 workers in the 1,500-square-mile port area," explained a port authority official.

It affected diplomats, like Antonio Dazzi, homeward-bound attache of the Italian legation in Washington, who stood on a pier and surveyed his 15 trunks, three crates, two bags and a bike.

"Diplomats are supposed to find ways and means. I've got my whole household effects here . . ."

But there was no diplomatic immunity from the paralysis of New York harbor. You could set sail from Grand Central Station (via boat train) to catch a ship at Halifax. Or you could sail on a ship like Capt. McCabe's—across the river to Jersey.

Old War-Scarred Ship Still At Work

MONTREAL (CP)—Bombed, torpedoed and rammed during her 31-year sea career, the 7,000-ton Norwegian-owned freighter Porsanger recently put into Montreal harbor—still working efficiently at her job of carrying iron ore from Norway's mines.

The Porsanger was the first ocean-going freighter ever built by Canadian Vickers Ltd. Her master since 1924, Capt. J. Pedersen, says proudly: "She is a fine ship and even has her original engine and boilers."

In 1924 the Porsanger suffered considerable forward damage when she collided with the 17,000-ton Royal Mail liner Orca in a dense fog. In 1940, while lying in a Norwegian harbor, she was heavily bombed and then torpedoed by the Germans. After Norway was conquered, the Nazis patched her up and she returned to work.

A quick and easy way to seal freshly cooked jelly into a glass with paraffin is to melt the paraffin in a porcelain-enameled teapot and let the teapot spout direct the sealer in an even stream over the jelly or jam. Melt paraffin by placing in teapot in a pan of hot water. If you want to store paraffin in the teapot during the jelly-making period, cover the spout and the top to keep the sealer clean and ready for use.

Criminals From 21 To 30 Problem In U.K., Says Ex-Home Secretary

LONDON (CP)—Viscount Home Secretary, says the problem children of Britain's courts today are criminals between the ages of 21 and 30, some of whom grew up "without respect for God or man."

Addressing the Magistrates' Association at the Guildhall on the Criminal Justice Act, recently before Parliament, he said:

"Hitherto the chief interest prompted by the bill has been in the problems of juvenile crime and delinquency. While juvenile delinquency seems to have passed its peak, adolescent and adult crime is still increasing."

FIGURES REPORTED

Increases in crime by the 21-30 age group were: Theft—From 11,819 cases in 1938 to 13,985 in 1946 and 17,264 in 1947. Breaking and entering—From 1,589 in 1938 to 3,371 in 1946 and 4,290 in 1947. Crimes of violence—From 509 in 1938 to 823 in 1946 and 1,033 last year.

"These sinister figures," said Viscount Templewood, "convince me that it is the age group of 21 to 30 that needs the closest and most persistent attention from the administrators of justice and penal reforms."

"Prison governors are insistent that this is the age group in which prisoners are most difficult to manage and reform."

Maldstone prison's governor reported: "They (the 21-30 age group) often have backgrounds on which it is impossible to work. They have no religious belief or moral code . . . They have no faith in this world or the next."

"Short sentences are worse than useless for these young criminals."

Referring to boys between 14

and 17, he said probation had been less used than in 1938 and short jail sentences had substantially increased. He hoped the act would stop many of these "useless and unwise sentences that almost invariably did more harm than good to the young offender."

No War Since 1571 But Cypriots Worry About Next

By DANIEL DE LUCE

CYPRUS (AP)—This is an island without a battlefield since 1571 A.D. But the people are worrying about the next war.

Cyprus has a never-ending surplus of sunshine, wine and politics. But according to its trade balance it is going broke, with imports 500 per cent. larger than exports.

It has 263,620 Greeks who yearn for Athens, 80,000 Turks who yearn for Antioch, and 1,200 English fugitives from austerity who appear satisfied to be where they are.

The Greeks declaim that the island is Greek in blood, speech and spirit.

EXPECT MANY AMERICANS

An American influx is expected next year. Men with wings and men with warships are looked for. But only 115 persons with U.S. passports are here now.

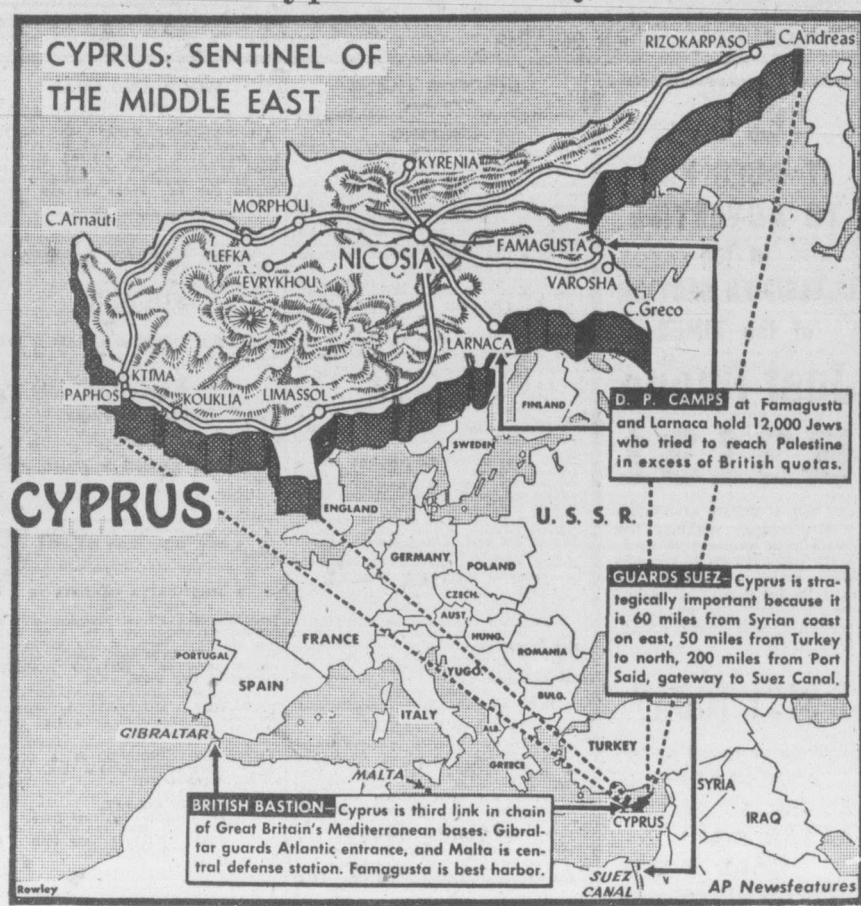

Shoeshine boys and publishers of fancy guide-books are happy about the rumored Yankee "invasion." Hungarian girls are dancing even more animatedly at the local night clubs. The whirling dervishes are ready to receive visitors at their Moslem shrine.

But Leftists are enraged. Ruled by foreigners during most of its long history, Cyprus has usually carried a high price tag. Richard the Lion Hearted once sold it for 100,000 pounds in 12th century promissory notes.

Next to foreign rulers, Cypriots have regarded earthquakes as their greatest annoyance. If many dogs bark in the evening, they say that is a warning that an earthquake will occur.

Their tradition of wisdom goes back to Zeno, who left here and founded the Stoic school of heavy thinkers in 326 B.C. Long before Karl Marx pondered the subject, Cypriots were remarking: "For a rich man, even his rooster lays eggs."

Shakespeare's plays are seldom seen, but Famagusta, a leading Cyprus seaport, claims to be the original locale of his tragedy, "Othello." The biggest tug in the harbor is named for Desdemona. For dramatic fare, Cypriots seem to like cowboy movies. The spring of Aphrodite on the eastern coast is famed in legend for restoring the virginity of the goddess. But only a few male shepherds deign to bathe there now. Cypriots girls are strictly watched over by their families. When a bride promises "to obey," her toes may be stepped on by her future husband to make certain she remembers. British guests throw cotton-seeds instead of rice.

Voluble by temperament, Cypriots nevertheless quote the axiom: much talking is good only for scholars. Incurable idealists, they claim to be practical. It is stupidity, they say, to throw rocks at the wind.

Planes In Airlift Service Always Take Off With Load

BERLIN (Reuters)—The Berlin crisis has brought into being a British-U.S. civilian-military air force co-ordinating group to handle the air lift traffic job and ensure that no plane in the 24-hour shuttle between Berlin and the west is ever without a load to carry.

More than 600 planes now fly the Berlin air corridors every day and make the task of the air lift co-ordinating committee (Bealcom) as intricate and as vital as any traffic organization job ever performed.

Maj. Gen. Charles Gross, deputy chief of the bipartite transport group in Frankfurt, is chairman of Bealcom.

Requiring multiple timing and exact co-ordination, the task involves "moving the right trains and carrying the right supplies at the right time to the right airfield."

NEGLECTED FACILITIES

Since airfield storage facilities are negligible, an average of three days' supplies is held in freight cars at airfield railheads.

With the coming of winter, arrangements have been made to store a two-week supply at a Frankfurt warehouse and a similar two weeks' supply in the British zone near Wunstorf airfield.

Food for Berlin's western sectors is the most important single item carried. The distribution section of the bipartite food and agricultural office, with many storage problems already solved, now is concentrating on getting increased and more varied supplies of food.

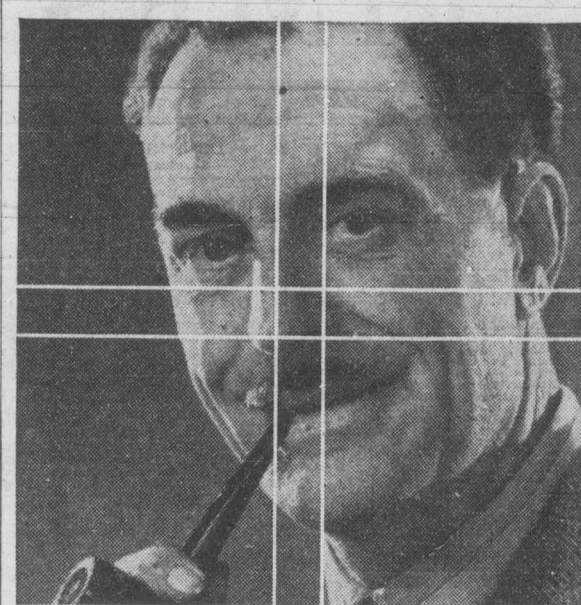

Keeping internal trade going between Berlin and the western zones has been another important part of the traffic job.

Returning air lift planes carry out of Berlin several hundred tons of Berlin-made industrial goods every week. Chief among these manufacturers are motors, generators, and telephone and mining equipment. Moving them out by plane enables the Berlin plants to keep going and so maintain employment for their thousands of workers. Quick delivery helps bizonal economic recovery.

All Of Canada To Be Mapped By R.C.A.F. Photographers

OTTAWA (CP)—The R.C.A.F. has gone all out to map Canada—for peacetime as well as war purposes.

This year, tackling in dead earnest a survey job for which there is no parallel in the world, planes of the service's two air photo squadrons snapped 911,936 square miles of territory, much of which was previously uncharted.

Some idea of the immensity of the task can be obtained from the knowledge that the estimated land area of Canada is roughly 3,500,000 square miles.

FIGURE DOUBLED

The 911,936 square miles photographed this year was more than double the 400,000 covered in 1947, which itself was a record year. It was nearly half as much again as all the air photography done from the time the work began in 1921 to the end of 1947.

Factors mainly responsible for the increase were: good weather this summer; establishment of a signals system by which contact can be made with aircraft in the field even in far northern areas; improved supply lines to units in the field; setting up of a choice of areas to be photographed, so a unit can work on one area while another is closed in by bad weather; the "tri-camera" system, by which larger areas may be shot with a good degree of accuracy; use of long-range Lancaster aircraft in the tri-camera work; and full use of all available "photo" weather.

"Do women need to suffer so?"—mothers are often asked. One mother writes:

"The company nurse recommended Paradol when my daughter feared she would lose her job because of time lost each month. Now she loses no time and does not suffer pain or discomfort needlessly." Paradol is the answer for women who suffer each month. Quick relief also from headaches and neuralgic pains. The name "Dr. Chase's Paradol" is your assurance. Carry Paradol in your purse.

DR. CHASE'S PARADOL

Actual areas to be photographed in any summer are established by an inter-departmental committee on survey work, which co-ordinates the requirements of military and civilian branches of government, and also takes into account non-government needs.

Some of the areas to be photographed are so badly hemmed in by clouds that only a few days a year are suitable for air photography, which must have absolutely no cloud and a minimum of snow or ice.

When good weather comes, air crews stay out all day. Ground

BIGGEST OFFENCE

"In our business," said Sqdn. Ldr. R. F. Milne of Windsor, Ont., commander of No. 414 squadron, "the cardinal sin is to have an aircraft on the ground in photo weather. When a run is on, everybody has to pitch in."

Sqdn. Ldr. Milne's unit, comprising 12 Dakotas, handles vertical photography, which is more accurate than the tri-camera variety. A shot taken vertically from 12,000 to 18,000 feet up covers only a four-square mile area with sufficient accuracy for this type of work. This year his aircraft flew 113,000 linear miles on its photo runs, obtaining 270,880 square miles by this method. In the eastern Arctic, the Baffin Island region, the Ungava region of northern Quebec and Labrador, No. 413 squadron under Sqdn. Ldr. C. J. Olsson of Fort William and Ottawa covered 641,000 square miles by the tri-camera method, which can produce maps to the accuracy of four miles to the inch. To do this, his squadron had to cover only 40,000 linear miles.

Tri-camera photography consists of one vertical camera and two oblique cameras mounted in such a way as to give a strip from one horizon to another with each simultaneous three-camera shot.

The British tourist and holiday board hopes for 560,000 visitors in 1949.

"I'VE THOUGHT THIS THING OUT..."

Says Tom Franck

I think I can make up my own mind better than any government official can do it for me. And that's why I'm plugging for our free opportunity democratic system. To me, it means freedom of choice; choice of education and vocation, choice of employer and of politics.

Like most young Canadians I want to choose my education and fit myself for the job or the profession I've decided on... not be told how and what to do by a politician two thousand miles away. If I'm capable—and who doesn't try to be—I'll succeed.

And what's more important, our free opportunity democracy makes it possible for others like me to get ahead as far and as fast as they can. What our politics are or who our families were doesn't matter. We'll make it on how well we do our jobs... not how well we know a political boss or how well we serve an all powerful political party.

I've thought this thing out. By comparison and on its own merits, our free opportunity democracy offers more to me—a student—than any Socialist or Communist state would. And by more, I mean more choice of what I want to do, more opportunity to succeed, more rewards if I make good, and a higher standard of living for everybody.

Certainly I want a free opportunity democracy. And because I want it, I'm going to work to defend it and improve it in every way I can.

Tom Franck, University Student

Standard Oil Company of British Columbia Limited

This is one in a series of advertisements sponsored by Standard of B.C. and its associates, the independent Chevron Dealers, to present the people's views on the values and opportunities available to us in British Columbia under our democratic free opportunity system. This system, we are convinced, offers the greatest incentives, the highest standards of living, the best job-security and freedom of thought and action.

B.C. Herring Catch

The chief supervisor of the B.C. herring catch to last week-end had totaled 56,182 green tons.

Bulk of the catch was taken off the lower east coast of Vancouver Island where fishing now has been closed.

To last Saturday 30,204 cases had been produced by herring canneries, while production plants had turned out 9,062 tons of herring meal and 1,149,986 gallons of herring oil.

INSIDE STUFF

AT 8 P.M. . . on THIS Saturday, at the Armories . . . at Douglas & Bay, Olympic runners will strut their stuff, and local stars will huff & puff. It's Victoria's F-I-R-S-T . . . big indoor meet, the talent should give . . . the fans a treat. In the feature race, a one-mile track, 3 Olympic men . . . will take a crack. At the indoor record . . . so exclusive, they'd ALL like to hold it . . . but exclusive. The female starlets will provide some thrills, while the curves (of the track) might cause some spills. These girls, too, were Olympic features, in London were called . . . the "fairest of creatures." An indoor pole-vault . . . too is planned, with a sawdust pit, wherein to land.

I think I ought to be able to work in a plug here, despite all these "stars" floating about . . . besides I didn't write this script anyway . . . it's my kid brother who's so keenly interested . . . he plunked this stuff on my desk, and sed "here . . . try and drag the folks down to the Armories on Sat. nite." But for MY sake . . . try and drag yourself down here (to Our Warehouse) to see these new Hollywood Chesterfield Sets . . . terrific at only $169.

LOCAL TALENT . . . will have its nite, trying to win a cup, all silver-bright. The Oak Bay Girls' Drill Team . . . glamor 'n' spice, an evening of sport, worth easily twice. The price of admission . . . just 50 cents, that's for adults . . . ladies and gents. Students get in for just a quarter, so if you're tall . . . well . . . try 'n' get shorter. As a final touch, interest-winnin', the emcee will be . . . Mr. Archie McKinnon. So try & come out, see this meet, for just 4 bits . . . IT CAN'T BE BEAT.

"Look for the Flying Banner"

The DOCTOR Says:

LIGHTNING SHOCK IS VERY RARE; FEW SIMPLE PRECAUTIONS HELP

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.

Keraunophobia is the medical name for excessive fear of lightning. It is rather common in spite of the fact that actually being struck by lightning is rare.

Lightning acts on the human body in just about the same way as any other strong electric current. In the case of lightning, the air acts as the conductor. The effect of lightning produces somewhat greater damage to the nervous system than most other forms of electric shock.

A good many people have been struck by lightning and recovered. Of course, the occasional person killed by lightning gets into the headlines, but there is a fair chance that the effects of being struck will not kill and will leave the injured person not seriously disturbed.

CITES ODD CASE

For example, a 13-year-old boy in Bechunaland, South Africa, was driving sheep during a thunderstorm when he was struck. His hat and boots were torn to pieces and he received a burn running from the top of his head to the groin. He was knocked unconscious for a short time and lay in the rain till his father found him. His family decided that he needed medicine "to drive the lightning out," so he and his mother walked 50 miles in two days to the doctor!

Although the danger of being struck by lightning is small in the first place, there are a few worthwhile precautions which can be taken which decrease the chance of being struck. A golfer using an umbrella in a thunder-shower takes a greater risk than if he got wet. Another precaution is not to take shelter under a tree during a thunderstorm. Both umbrella and tree may act as a conductor for a bolt of lightning. The same is true for a flagpole or any other object which may act as a conductor of electricity.

Question—How can one get a good tan without freckles?

Answer—Freckles represent a reaction to sunlight common in people of fair skins. Very gradual and small exposure to the sun will help to avoid freckles. Also some of the oily or tanning preparations on the market may help.

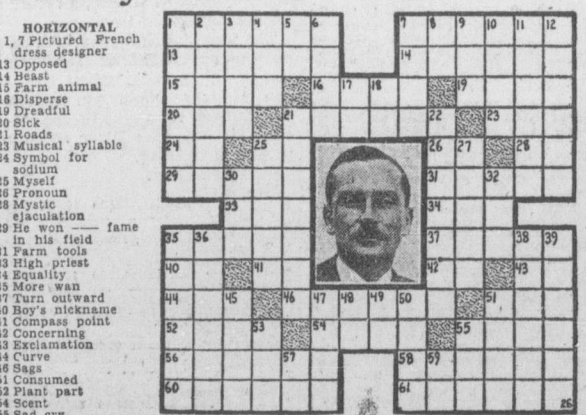

THIS GUN 'SHOOTS' THE MOON—What looks like an anti-aircraft gun is actually an electronic multiplier wired television telescope. The device, which inventor William Rhodes looks at in Phoenix, Ariz., can single out an area on the moon's surface and project an image on an eight-inch screen with clarity. Rhodes claims it brings lunar landscapes closer than any previous developed telescope.

AIRLIFT GETS A LIFT—Another airlift in the western part of Berlin is ready to help out the Allied airlift. A French guard of honor watches the first plane land on Tegel Airfield, in the French sector. The plane, an American Skymaster, dropped on the runway of the field, built by 15,000 Germans almost by hand.

No Compromise On Security Till Atom Control Started

OTTAWA (CP) — Transport Minister Chevrier said Thursday night security cannot be compromised until adequate safeguards for the control of atomic energy have been accepted by all nations of the world.

Mr. Chevrier, who recently returned from the United Nations' meeting in Paris, said Russia now is blocking the adoption of controls which would prevent the use of atomic energy for destructive purposes.

In a speech to the United Nations' Association in Canada, Mr. Chevrier said adoption of the Canadian resolution on international atomic control by an overwhelming majority of the 58 nations of the U.N. General Assembly was a "great victory for Canada."

Mr. Chevrier said:

"The view of the western powers, and our Canadian view," he said, "is that if the control is to be effective, we must have all the dangerous activities in atomic energy, including the possession and distributing of materials, in the hands of an international agency with full powers to inspect and supervise at its will and at the will of national governments, any non-dangerous activities which national governments may be permitted to operate under license."

RUSSIA'S USE OF VETO

The Russian idea of international control would "leave the Soviet government in a position to prevent at will the effective operation of controls." Russia would do this through use of the veto in the Security Council and in withholding permission to inspectors who wish to enter their territory, except on predetermined and pre-announced visits to be concerned only with any atomic installation the Soviet government has chosen to declare.

Woman Collapses, Dies On Street

Miss Kate C. Robinson, aged 72, 1016 Richardson Street, was pronounced dead at Jubilee Hospital Thursday afternoon when she was taken there by city police after collapsing on the sidewalk at Broad and Fort Streets.

Police said the woman apparently struck her head on the pavement in falling. She had been an invalid for years. Her body was taken to McCall Bros. Funeral Home.

According to a close friend, Miss Robinson had been a resident of Victoria for about 20 years. During that time she went back to England for a long visit with her sister and brother and other relatives.

Millworker Killed

VANCOUVER (CP) — John Barnes, 27-year-old millwright, was killed Wednesday night in a freak accident at the Eburne sawmill plant. His head was crushed as he attempted to turn a valve near the main saw to adjust weights on the "kicker." The "kicker" is believed to have swung, striking him on the head.

W. S. Thompson Quits T.C.A. Post To Give Full Time To C.N.R.

Walter S. Thompson, director of public relations and advertising, Canadian National Railways and Trans-Canada Air Lines, is relinquishing his air line activities Dec. 31, it was announced today, following a meeting of the T.C.A. board of directors. He will devote his full time to the railway and other ancillary services.

G. R. McGregor, president of T.C.A., on behalf of the board and himself, made "grateful acknowledgement of the valuable services rendered by Mr. Thompson to the air line since its inception in 1937. His outstanding knowledge and experience in the public relations and advertising fields have been of immeasurable advantage to the company."

In 11 years, T.C.A. has expanded from 122 miles to nearly 16,000 miles of scheduled routes across Canada, to U.S. centres, across the Atlantic to Great Britain, to Bermuda and to the Caribbean, and Mr. Thompson felt, in view of his other transportation responsibilities, that the time had arrived for the air line to establish a public relations department of its own.

Juvenile Home Here Proving Successful Speaker Tells Club

The Greater Victoria Juvenile Detention Home, Coldharbour Road, where minors are housed while their cases are before the juvenile courts, is proving to be a great success, Col. W. S. Dingley, O.B.E., superintendent of the home, told members of the Optimist Club at a meeting Thursday afternoon.

Opened 18 months ago, the home has played a definite role in putting on the right path boys who have wandered from the straight and narrow.

Of the 120 boys who have been housed at the home so far, only two have been returned as repeaters after the first time.

"The boys we get are not really bad," Col. Dingley said. "You can do a lot for them if you go about it the right way. We try to make them realize they have been on the wrong track but that the whole world is not against them."

Before the foster home was opened, young offenders of the law were housed in the city jail along with older and sometimes experienced law breakers. Here, the speaker said, the youngsters were exposed to undesirable influences.

"You can't put a child behind bars and expect to make a good citizen out of him," he said.

The foster home has no bars, it was pointed out, and boys have the freedom of the building. They must pledge not to leave the premises, though.

Proposes Vigilantes Check City Motorists

Careless and negligent drivers in this city, who seem to avoid apprehension by city police, could be brought into line if a group of conscientious citizens would form a vigilante corps to watch for traffic offenders and report them, W. S. Oliver told members of the Toastmasters' Club, No. 38, at a meeting Thursday night in the Strathcona Hotel.

A vigilante system, Mr. Oliver said, would make Victoria the safest and sanest city on the North American continent in which to drive.

Vigilantes, the speaker proposed, would file a written report on every traffic infraction they observed. When any one driver had three such reports turned in against him, police would press charges.

The present city police force is not large enough to check all traffic violators, he said.

Priorities Measure May Be Rescinded

OTTAWA (CP) — Solicitor-General Joseph Jean said in an interview the government hoped to be able to rescind Canada's Continuation of Transitional Measures Act by next March. The act, passed in 1947, is the only authority remaining of the Dominion's wartime measures to control prices of commodities and their distribution through priorities. It will come up for renewal at the end of the government's fiscal year in March, 1949.

Who Owns a Socialized Industry?

In theory at least, we all do. We are the owners, shareholders and customers of a nationalized industry.

But, as owners, shareholders and customers, would we control or benefit from this industry?

If, for instance, as customers, we didn't approve of the industry's products or services, could we withdraw our support?

No. Not unless free enterprise products or services were available to which we could turn.

Would we, as customers, benefit from lower-cost goods or services?

No. The general record of socialized industry shows that as soon as control passes into the hands of unfamiliar and usually untrained government administrators costs rise steeply—and so do prices.

Could we, as owners and shareholders change the management, improve the working conditions, or lower the prices of the goods or services?

No. These matters would be left to government boards, deaf to criticism, unsympathetic to suggestion, bound hand, head and foot by red tape, over whom we would have no control.

Would we, as owners and shareholders and customers, have to meet any losses incurred by inept administration and management?

Yes! Every time. In extra taxes and higher prices—subsidies to keep every failing socialized industry alive.

In fact—if not in theory—we would not "own," control, or benefit from our socialized industry at all. We would just be asked to pay for it!

WILL THERE BE A BLACKOUT in Victoria and District?

That Depends Entirely Upon YOU

Unless YOU as a factory manager, as a store or office manager, as a householder, etc., CO-OPERATE TO THE FULLEST POSSIBLE EXTENT IN THE CONSERVATION OF ELECTRICITY during the present emergency, a complete blackout will be unavoidable in certain sections.

1. FACTORY MANAGERS and SUPERINTENDENTS

can co-operate by making a minimum use of electrically-driven machinery and by turning out all unnecessary lights.

2. OFFICE AND STORE MANAGERS

can co-operate by turning off all unnecessary lighting, including all decorative and sign lighting.

3. HOUSEHOLDERS

can co-operate by turning off all unnecessary lighting and by making the most sparing use of essential electrical appliances—particularly water heaters.

A Real Emergency Still Exists

and unless 100 per cent co-operation is received from all users of electricity, local blackouts will be unavoidable.

Good progress is being made on the repairs to the flume at Jordan River and you may rest assured it will be back in service at the earliest possible moment.

In the Meantime "Conservation" is the Watchword

if blackouts are to be avoided and the supply of electricity maintained for all vital and essential services.

We thank you all for the splendid co-operation in this emergency and know you will continue to assist.

Stock Market Regains Balance

NEW YORK (AP)—The Stock Market regained its balance Friday after Wednesday's tumble.

Most price changes were around a point or less, with gains showing a slight edge over the losses.

A fair amount of activity developed.

Even minor declines were enough to put many issues at new lows for the year. The Wednesday drop carried the general level of prices to the lowest since mid-March.

Canadian issues were higher. Dome mines was up 1/4. McIntyre, Hiram Walker and Distillers Seagrams each gained 1/4.

Western Oils Stampede Ahead

TORONTO (CP)—

Western oils stampeded ahead in heavy trading on the Toronto Stock Exchange Friday to roll over the highest figure on the index since 1937. Base metals started slowly but rolled forward in late trading for some strong gains. Golds moved quietly to hold steady.

Eight western oil issues sold at new highs as the complete list advanced. The group opened strongly, appeared to bog down in mid-session and then perked up toward the close to show the widest advance in some time on gains ranging up to $1. Home Oil, Pacific Petroleum, Anglo-Canadian, Atlantic Oil, Calgary and Edmonton and Leduc West were among the stronger gainers.

Toronto closing index:

20 Industrials — 183.90, up .85
20 Golds — 80.66, up .87
10 Base Metals — 107.59, up .82
15 Western Oils — 56.85, up 5.33
Total sales, 2,139,000.

Oils Hit Peaks In Record Trading

VANCOUVER (CP)—

Oils skyrocketed to new heights in the heaviest trading since 1937 on the Vancouver Exchange today.

Transactions in oils alone reached 459,900 shares, seven-eighths of the total sales.

Golds and base metals were mixed in a neglected market. No trend was recorded in industrials.

Home Oil was the feature of the field gaining an even 1.00 to reach a new high of 13.25; C. & E. was up 4
